FOREWORD

To those who read
THE '67 TATTLER,
we present the memories
of a fulfilling year, a year in which we participated in activities,
prepared for the future,
and met challenges
too numerous to mention.

The Class of 1967

Presents

The Tattler.....

To those who worked to enrich the lives of students,
through leadership,
guidance,
and sympathetic understanding,
we express our thanks,
our respect, and our admiration—
the members of the
ADMINISTRATION and FACULTY.

Administration and Faculty

SCHOOL BOARD WORKED TO IMPROVE STANDARDS

Mr. Lemmon C. Stoudnour, Superintendent of School, worked closely with the board in the areas of hiring employees and planning the budget. He brought many recommendations before the board and has been responsible for the smooth functioning of all the district's schools.

The school board was accountable for the financing of schools, the employing of personnel, the establishment of school policies and the maintenance of school property. To remain completely informed of the needs of the students and faculty, the board heard numerous reports from the department heads. These officials met frequently in order to solve the problems necessary for Emmaus High to maintain its accreditation.

LEMMON C. STOUDNOUR
Superintendent of Schools

Mr. Stoudnour's many secretarial chores are the responsibility of his capable secretary, Mrs. Anita Ogle.

EAST PENN SCHOOL BOARD. Seated: William Shoemaker, Ralph Schappell (Vice-President), Howard Eyer (President), Mrs. Ruth Knepper, George Niess (Treasurer). Standing: Howard Yarus (Solicitor), Dr. Wistar Paist, Wilbur Huber (Secretary), Harold Kells, Howard Biles, Lloyd Jones.

DISTRICT SECRETARY: Mr. Wilbur Huber (At right). ASSISTANT SECRETARY: Mr. Miller.

COMPETENT MEN RUN A

Few pupils realize the responsibility and difficulties of Mr. Frantz's job. His close observation of our school life and deep understanding of our many needs has developed a strong bond between administration and students. Through his tireless efforts, Emmaus High School has maintained its high standards.

PAUL J. FRANTZ
Principal

Mr. Frantz finds his work easier when Mrs. Romig, his capable secretary, assists him with his schedules.

WELL ORGANIZED SCHOOL

Constantly working to keep our school abreast of the changing times, Mr. Unger probably has the most personal contact with students. He oversees a variety of functional and administrative activities of the school. His sometimes strict disciplinary measures are always tempered with a large measure of common sense and justice.

ALBERT F. UNGER
Assistant Principal

Mrs. Adamchak consults Mr. Unger to see that his schedule of meetings for the day has been arranged efficiently.

DISTRICT OFFICES FILLED BY HIGHLY TRAINED PERSONNEL

As supervisor of Special Services, Mr. Keim and his personnel developed a well-organized program for many students. As the school psychologist, he was in constant contact with both advanced and "problem" students. Mr. Wagner, District Supervisor of Reading, had a busy schedule testing the reading ability of pre-first graders and selecting books for both classroom and library use. Carefully planning a well-balanced diet for students was the job of cafeteria manager, Mrs. Plarr, while Miss Zurowska checked on the home life of students doing poorly in school.

JEANNE UNGER
Secretary

RICHARD KEIM
Supervisor of Special Services

JAMES WAGNER
District Supervisor of Reading

HEALTH SERVICES ARE PROVIDED FOR STUDENTS' BENEFIT

Every student has probably visited the sparkling office of Miss Graver at one time or other during the school year. Whether for a physical examination or for the treatment of a minor ailment, the students could always find Miss Graver on hand to provide helpful assistance. With the cooperation of school and community agencies, it was the duty of the school nurse to supervise and administer a comprehensive program of medical examinations ranging from periodic hearing and visual checkups to tuberculin tests. Other segments of her diversified job included treating the sick and injured and maintaining high health standards within the school community.

MISS MARCELLA GRAVER
Nurse

Throughout the day many students relax in the health suite as they patiently wait for Miss Graver's help and guidance. With her friendly personality and reassuring advice, they become confident that they will soon recover from their ailments.

CLERICAL STAFF ASSISTS STUDENTS, FACULTY, AND VISITORS

Responsible for handling the endless details which are entailed in operating a school district, these women played an important role in our administration. The duties of the high school secretaries included all phases of work which directly concerned high school affairs, not to mention the many times they helped students find a lost article or to work out other problems. District secretaries handled all correspondence within the district and kept district records.

DISTRICT SECRETARIES: Mrs. Jean Parton, Mrs. Jean Berry, Mrs. Irene Opilla, Miss Judy Pondelek.

HIGH SCHOOL SECRETARIES: Mrs. Betty Romig, Mrs. Ruby Adamchak.

PERSONAL INTEREST TAKEN IN EACH STUDENT

At a perplexing time in a student's life, the guidance department offered him help in attaining his personal goal. They also assumed responsibility for planning student schedules and individual programs. Miss Strauss's duty was to counsel the girls in grades ten, eleven, and twelve, while Mr. Tuttle was in charge of counseling the boys. Working together, they kept college preparatory seniors well informed with the upcoming application deadlines, examinations, and scholarship opportunities. For those students not continuing their formal education, vocation aptitude tests were given. Mr. Richards supervised guidance for freshmen. He taught occupations classes to enable students to adjust to their new academic world.

GUIDANCE DEPARTMENT: Miss Mildred Strauss, Evan E. Richards, Leon Tuttle.

GUIDANCE DEPARTMENT SECRETARIES: Mrs. Barbara Ritter, Mrs. Mae Barto.

Douglas Yakshe discusses his college plans with Mr. Tuttle, who is in charge of counseling the upperclass boys.

DEPARTMENT HEADS ASSIST IN IMPROVING TEACHING METHODS

In an attempt to improve curriculum and methods, Emmaus High School adopted the system of appointing department heads to assume responsibility for the departments of English, science, home economics, mathematics, business education, social studies, industrial arts, foreign languages, and physical education.

These people had specific duties in connection with their positions. Their major duty lay in assisting the principal in areas such as supervision, department administration, and operation of each department. Teachers depended upon their respective department heads for assistance in preparing annual requisitions, research studies, means of teaching, and finding solutions to any other problem that may have occurred. Each department head was also responsible for holding meetings with the teachers under him to discuss any information concerning his field. The teachers who accepted these positions included Mrs. Jean Bieber, English; Mr. Jerome Baer, Science; Mrs. Jane Trump, Home Economics; Mr. George Blyler, Mathematics; Mr. Keith Smith, Business Education; Mr. Kenneth Wesser, Social Studies; Mr. Glenn Heckman, Industrial Arts; Mr. Woodrow Schaadt, Foreign Language; and Mr. Richard Shaak, Physical Education.

Each one did his part to improve his department and made sure every student received all the possible benefits. Everyone of them devoted much of his time working cooperatively in his department to up-date and improve courses of study and curriculum materials so everything would insure the best for the students in their learning.

DEPARTMENT HEADS: Seated: Mrs. Jean Bieber (English), Mr. Jerome Baer (Science), Mrs. Jane Trump (Home Economics), Mr. George Blyler (Mathematics). Standing: Mr. Keith Smith (Business Education), Mr. Kenneth Wesser (Social Studies), Mr. Glenn Heckman (Industrial Arts), Mr. Woodrow Shaadt (Foreign Language), Mr. Richard Shaak (Physical Education).

LIBRARY PROVIDED THE NEEDED REFERENCE MATERIALS

Under Mrs. Timber's supervision, the library provided a quiet place for reference work. Students soon discovered that the new librarian had a ready ear for their problems in finding information. Realizing that she needed help in running our library efficiently, the school board hired a library aide, Mrs. Arndt, to assist her. New books and magazines were added to make our library a more comprehensive place for reference and enjoyment.

Always smiling, Mrs. Timbers files overdue book notices assisted by Mrs. Arndt, who checks newly arrived books.

PROFICIENCY IN BOTH ENGLISH

The educational value of English needs no emphasis. A strong English background paved the way as the four year road led to many places as familiar and unfamiliar scenes presented in a new light.

Our Foreign Language Department offered the student background in Spanish, Latin, French, and German. The adaption of a language into a student's course afforded him a cultural background, and enabled him to acquire keener insight of our international neighbors.

OPPOSITE TOP: German III proves to be interesting as Mrs. Gynenes answers questions about the story "Fremde in Dinkelburg."

ENGLISH DEPARTMENT: Kneeling: Mr. Basara, Glenn Jones. Seated: Mrs. Mary Shoemaker, Mrs. Linda Zinnes, Miss Ruth Howard, Mrs. Mariane Allen, Mrs. Jean Bieber, Mrs. Doris Kercsmar.

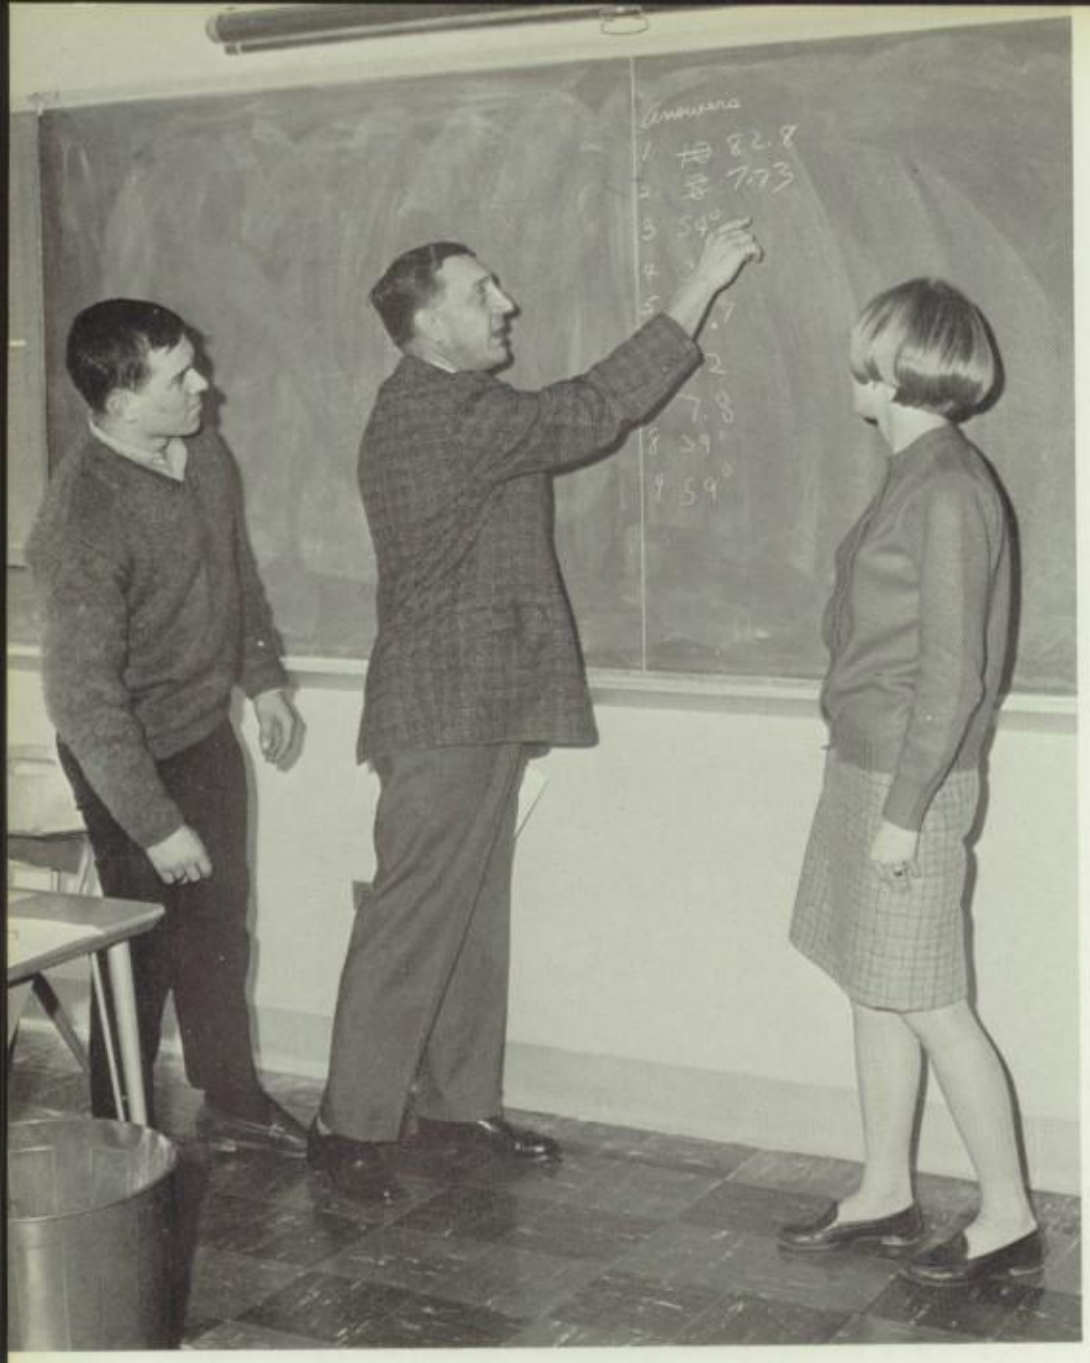
AND FOREIGN LANGUAGES PROVED WORTH-WHILE



MATHEMATICS OPENED DOORS TO MEET STUDENT NEEDS

Recognizing the demands of today's technical society, the Mathematics Department offered a large choice of courses aimed to encompass all the interests of the students. Subjects available included basic general math courses, three levels of algebra, plane geometry, trigonometry and solid geometry. Teachers were always willing to help students broaden their interests by introducing new phases of Mathematics.

Mr. Burger helps studious Juniors Kathy Shannon and Tony Puzauskas review figures for a test in Plane Geometry.

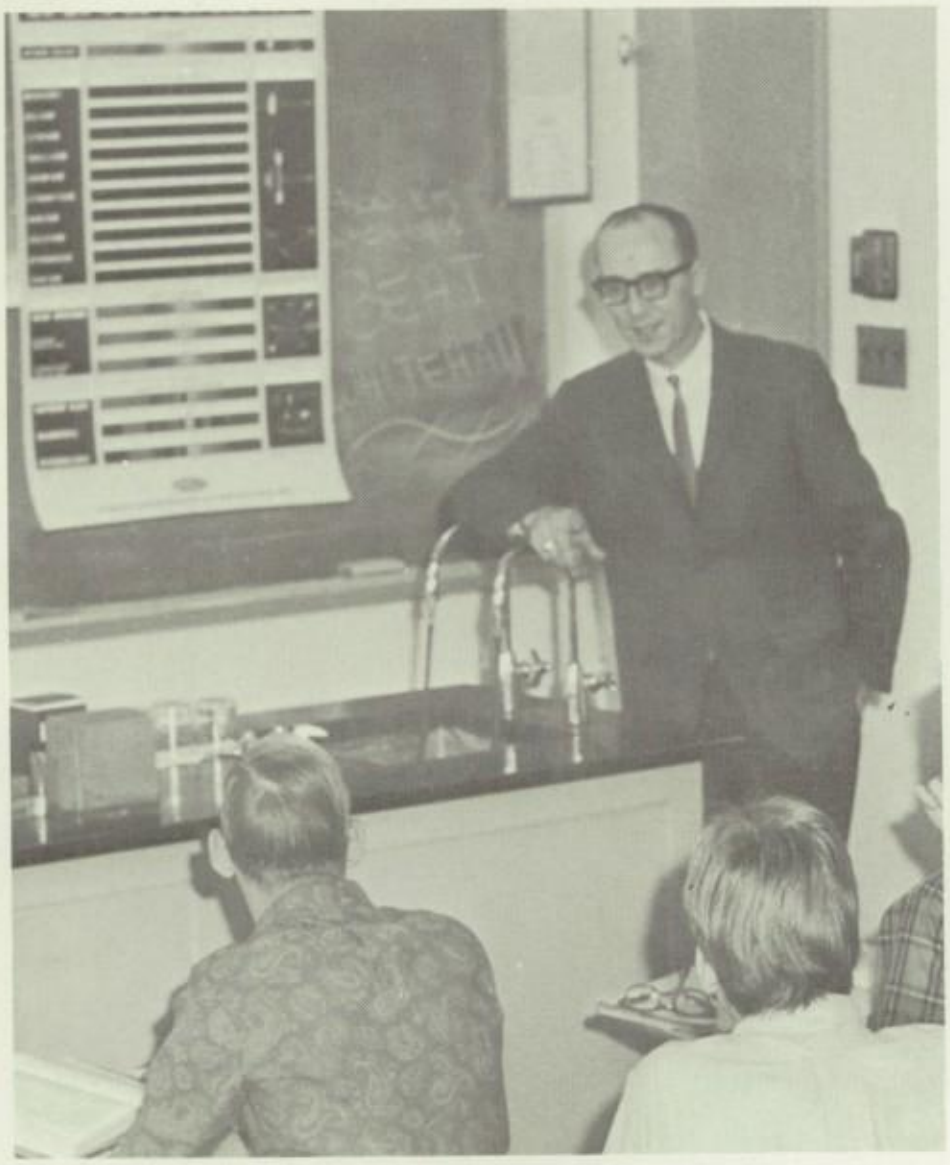
MATHEMATICS DEPARTMENT: Curtis Sthare, Richard Black, George Blyler, Mrs. Edna Rankin, Mrs. Edythe Rubens, Albert Burger, Mrs. Joan Bramfitt.

WISDOM OF THE PAST PREPARED STUDENTS FOR THE FUTURE

The Social Studies Department at Emmaus High School, headed by Mr. Wesser, included various phases of this field aimed to arouse student interests. Freshmen began their four year historical study with American History, learning details of his nation. As sophomores, students were taught facts of ancient civilizations in World Cultures classes. United States History was offered to Juniors and Problems of Democracy to Seniors. Included in this course was a twelve-week compulsory study of economics. Current events played a large role in all these classes to help keep students aware of world affairs.

SOCIAL STUDIES DEPARTMENT: Kneeling: Charles Woginrich, David MacLaughlin, Alfred Neff, Bruce Polster. Standing: George Opilla, Robert Landis, Robert Hill, Kenneth Wesser, Samuel Himmel.

Problems of American Democracy can be a lot of fun with Mr. Neff around. The personal attention he tries to give to each question draws appreciation from all the students.



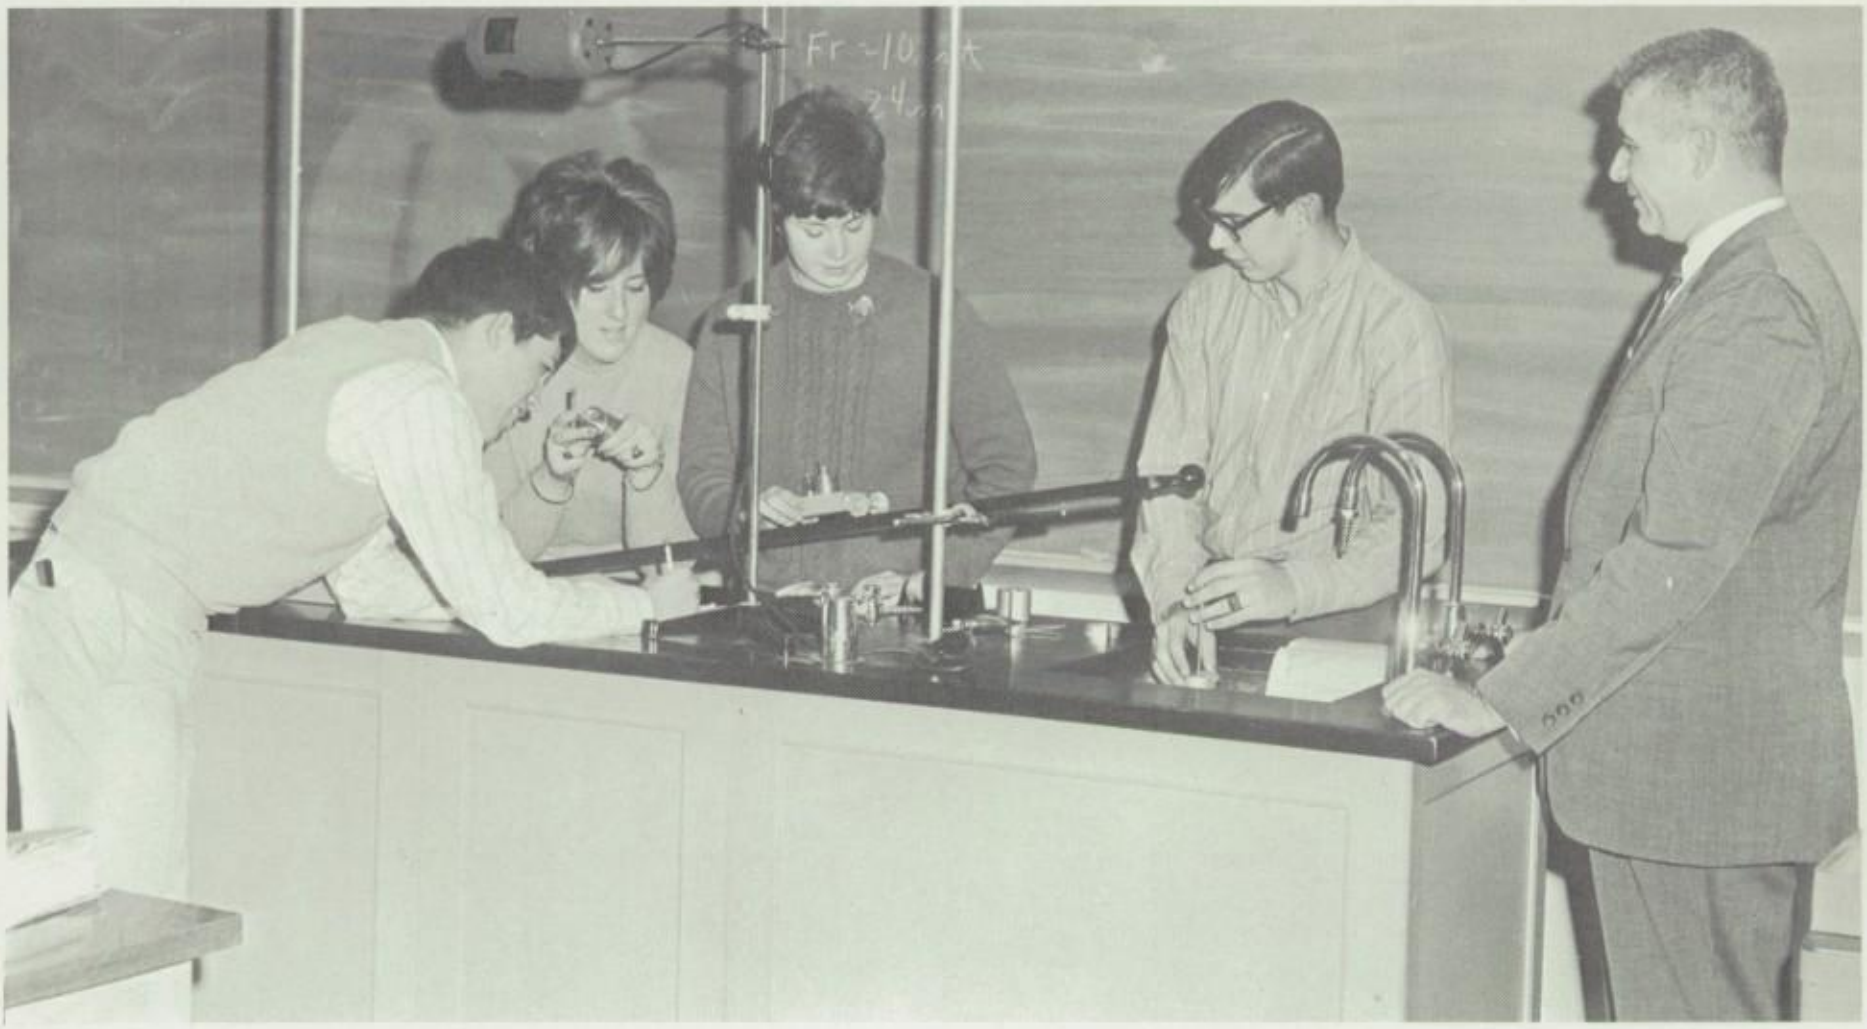
SCIENCE COURSES ENABLED

Once again Emmaus High School offered specialized courses in science to those who took interest in this field. This included Biology II, Physics, and Chemistry II. Pupils who selected one of these advanced into the ever changing world of science. They conducted more elaborate experiments and went into more detail on subjects to supplement the material they covered in previous years. Biology I, Space Science, and Chemistry I were still required for all freshmen and sophomores, and for upperclass students enrolled in general or business courses.

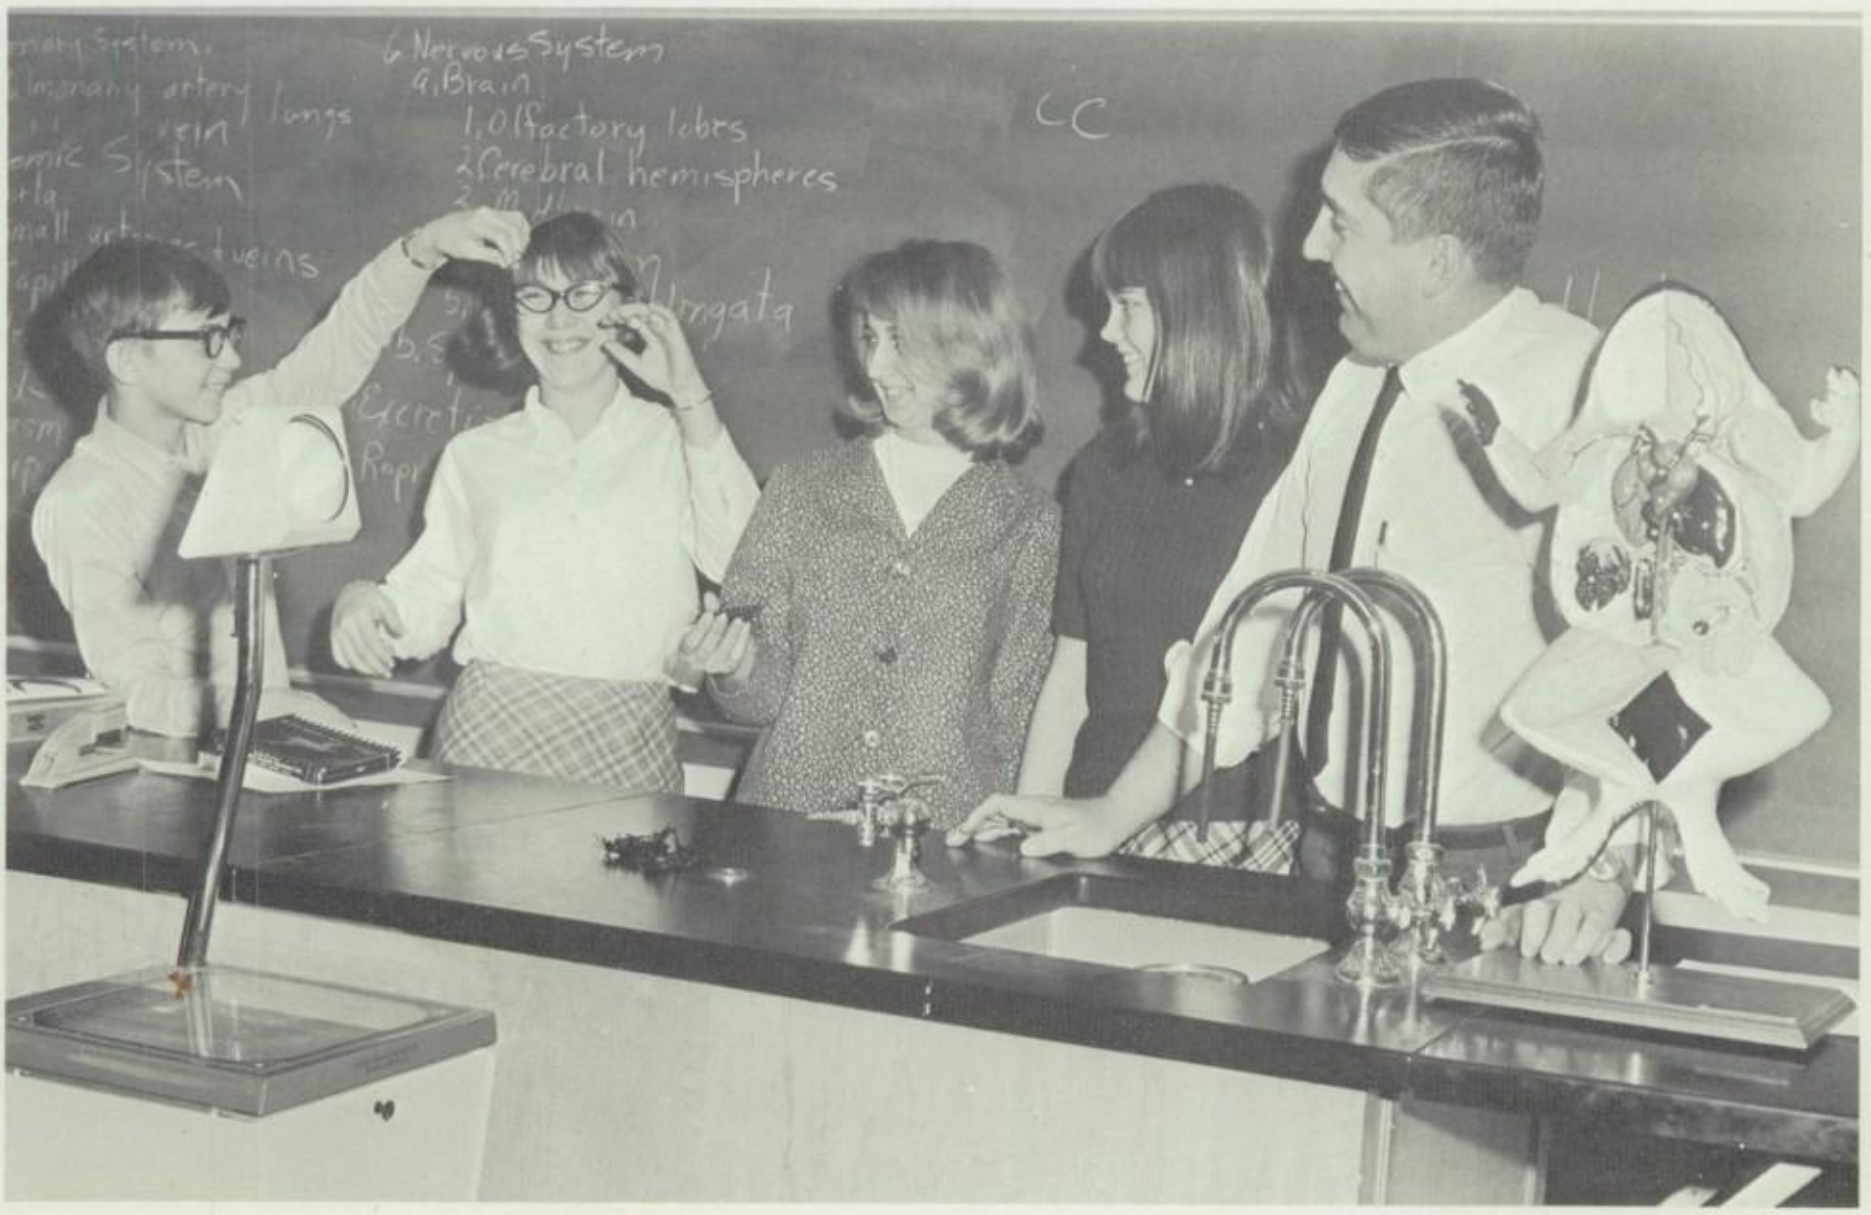
Senior students in their Space Science class listen attentively to Mr. Miller as he informally discusses the assigned chapter. Science classes frequently used charts and illustrations such as those on the blackboard to make learning meaningful.

SCIENCE DEPARTMENT: Albert Miller, Eugene Schantzenbach, Jerome Baer, Richard Roberts, Miss Ruth Smith, Bryan Kemmerer, William Miller, Haven Knecht.

STUDENTS TO PROBE THE REALMS OF THE UNKNOWN



Above: Seniors Scott Bieber, Denise Gaugler, Jane Moore, and Larry Bray perform one of their numerous physics experiments with the assistance of Mr. Miller. Today they are determining the IMA and the AMA in an inclined plane experiment. Below: Freshmen have an opportunity to learn about living things in Mr. Roberts' biology class. Demonstrating to the rest of the class that not all girls fear grasshoppers, Dennis Yenser shows one to Darlene Heyer, Diane Shepard and Eileen Keefer.



BUSINESS PRINCIPALS PREPARES STUDENTS FOR FUTURE

Students who have planned their future as a secretary, stenographer, bookkeeper, or clerical worker received expert training from the staff in the Business Education Department. Students were provided with practical vocational experience, achieved through two specialized curricula—Clerical, which prepared the students who have intentions of entering into general business, and Secretarial, which emphasized the skills needed for secretarial work. The staff in this department strove to provide an adequate background for their students through the experiences in the classroom and by supplying them with assistance in on the job training when requested to do so.

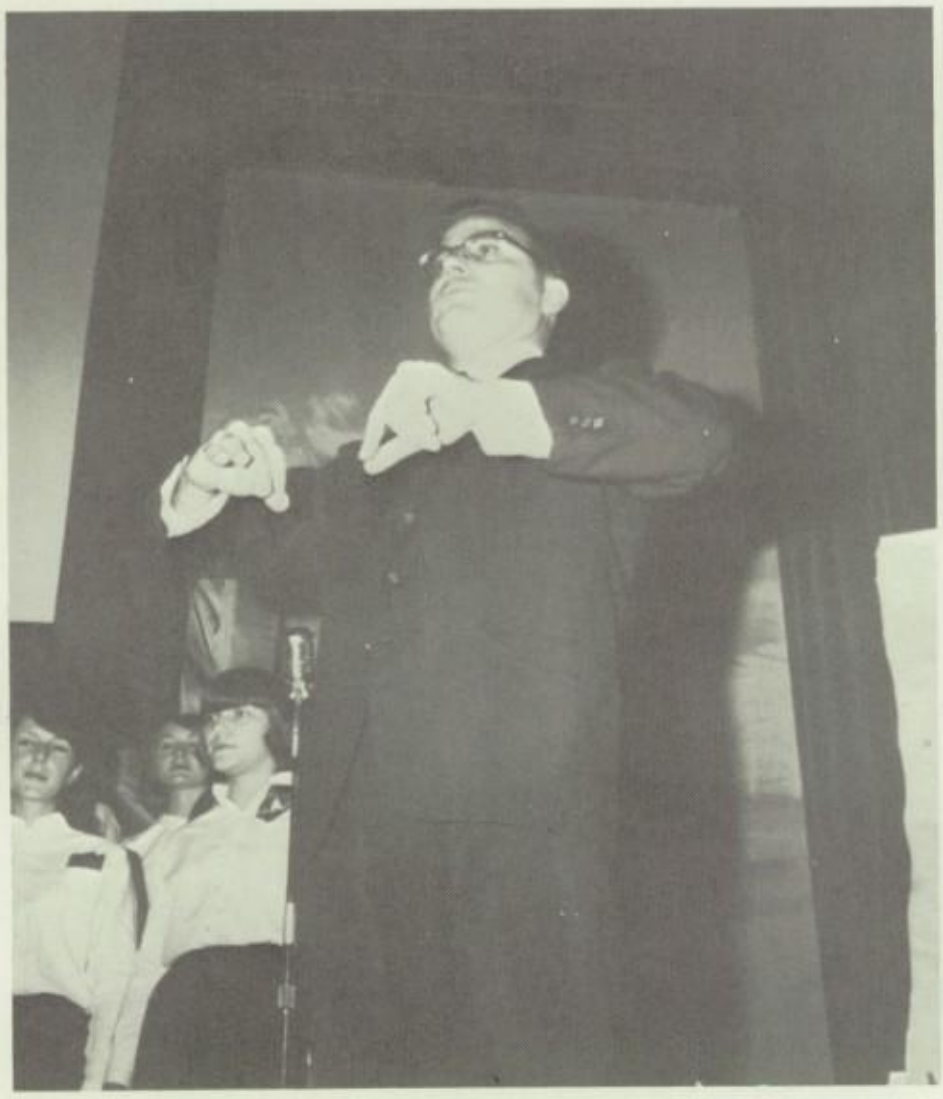
Showcases, scattered throughout the high school, display projects made by a variety of clubs and departments. Sandy Schweitzer, Connie Young, and Lynn Johnson chat in front of one prepared by students in the business department.

One can always hear the noise of typewriter keys being put to work by many hands. Mrs. Turnquist watches each student in her sophomore typing class as she prepares an assignment.

CREATIVITY IN FINE ARTS



After months of hard work, Mr. Sell directs the Concert Choir's singing of a variety of songs and carols in the Christmas Assembly.

The Music Department, composed of Mr. Sell and Mr. Long, provided music courses for the students of E.H.S. The Concert Choir, under the direction of Mr. Sell, entertained both students and the public with a variety of assembly programs and musicals. The band, directed by Mr. Long, provided music for athletic events, parades, assembly programs, and concerts. The Music Department developed the students' interest in music. Freshmen learned the basic essentials of music and composers in music class. This knowledge could be augmented with extra-curricular activities.

Attractive display cases were but one way in which students expressed their artistic ability. For the more gifted, advanced study was provided. Projects such as drawing sketches, creating mosaics, making wood carvings and designing mobiles kept Miss Miller's students busy.

DOMESTIC AND INDUSTRIAL

Home Living courses, designed to give experience in home-making, provides girls with the opportunity to learn cooking, sewing, and to recognize problems of marriage, child care and the family.

In this age of "tools and gadgets", it is imperative that some men be instructed in the use and operation of these machines. Such is the responsibility of the Industrial Arts Department. The Industrial Arts teacher not only instructs the students as to operation and technique, but also teaches safety in the shop. The well-rounded program fostered by the Industrial Arts Department gives students ample preparation and background for many vocations.

HOME LIVING DEPARTMENT: Mrs. Jane Trump, Mrs. Jessie Reeder.

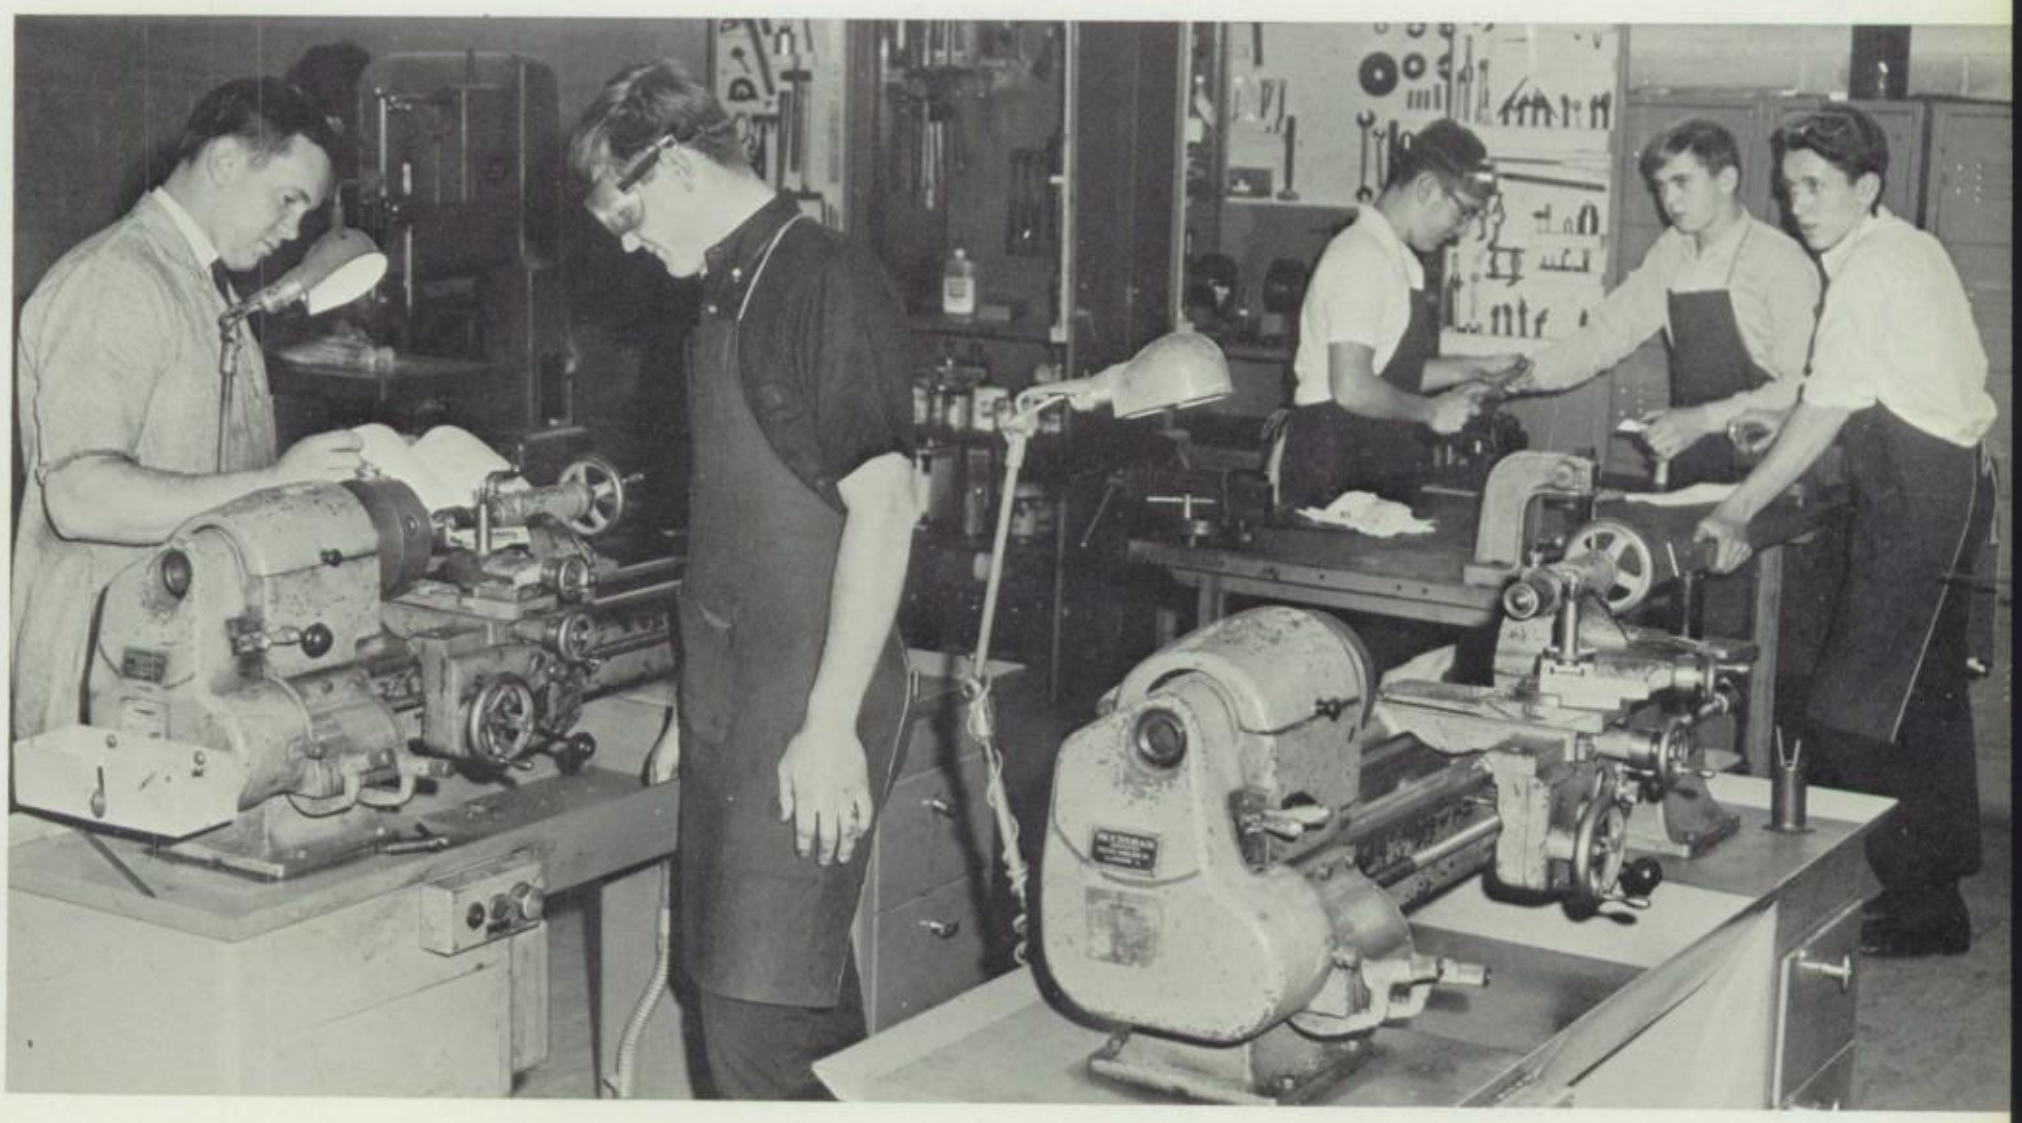
SKILLS TAUGHT AT EMMAUS HIGH ENLIGHTENED MANY

INDUSTRIAL ARTS DEPARTMENT: Glenn Heckman, William Scheckler, John Child, Merle Connor.

Keith Metz listens attentively as metal shop teacher Mr. Connor explains the fundamental parts of the lathe and its unique structure. Other members of this junior shop class work on their assignment.



PHYSICAL FITNESS PROMOTED IN GYM CLASSES

Cold showers, sweaty socks, straight hair, long laps around the football field—these were memories of gym classes. Soccer, field hockey, basketball, gymnastics, and tennis were but a few areas of physical training covered in the comprehensive physical education program. The department also taught the meaning and value of teamwork and sportsmanship. The study of health, in the sophomore curriculum, gave students an understanding of the parts of their body, their functions, and disorders.

Under the direction of Mrs. Herman and the watchful eyes of her classmates, Junior, Mary Chomik, performs on the balance beam. This piece of apparatus, designed primarily for girls, serves to promote better posture and grace.

PHYSICAL EDUCATION DEPARTMENT: Richard Shaak, Virginia Herman, Gwendlyn Armitage, William Imschweiler.

MANY OPPORTUNITIES OPEN TO STUDENTS WITH SPECIAL NEEDS

Teachers handling special services provided assistance and convenience that augmented an otherwise rigid scholastic course of study. Mr. Roth worked many long hours with students grouped for specialized education. Under his excellent guidance, these pupils received the leadership and teaching they needed to find their places in today's world.

Sophomores and Juniors studied Driver Education and Driver Training with Mr. Leibensperger and Mr. Roberts. Following elementary understanding of the automobile through instruction in basic mechanics, pupils studied driving regulations and safe driving habits. Eligible Juniors also received behind-the-wheel instruction in Driver Training. Informal Driver Training classes enabled supervised students to drive on a driving course and in commercial traffic on clear, rainy and snowy days.

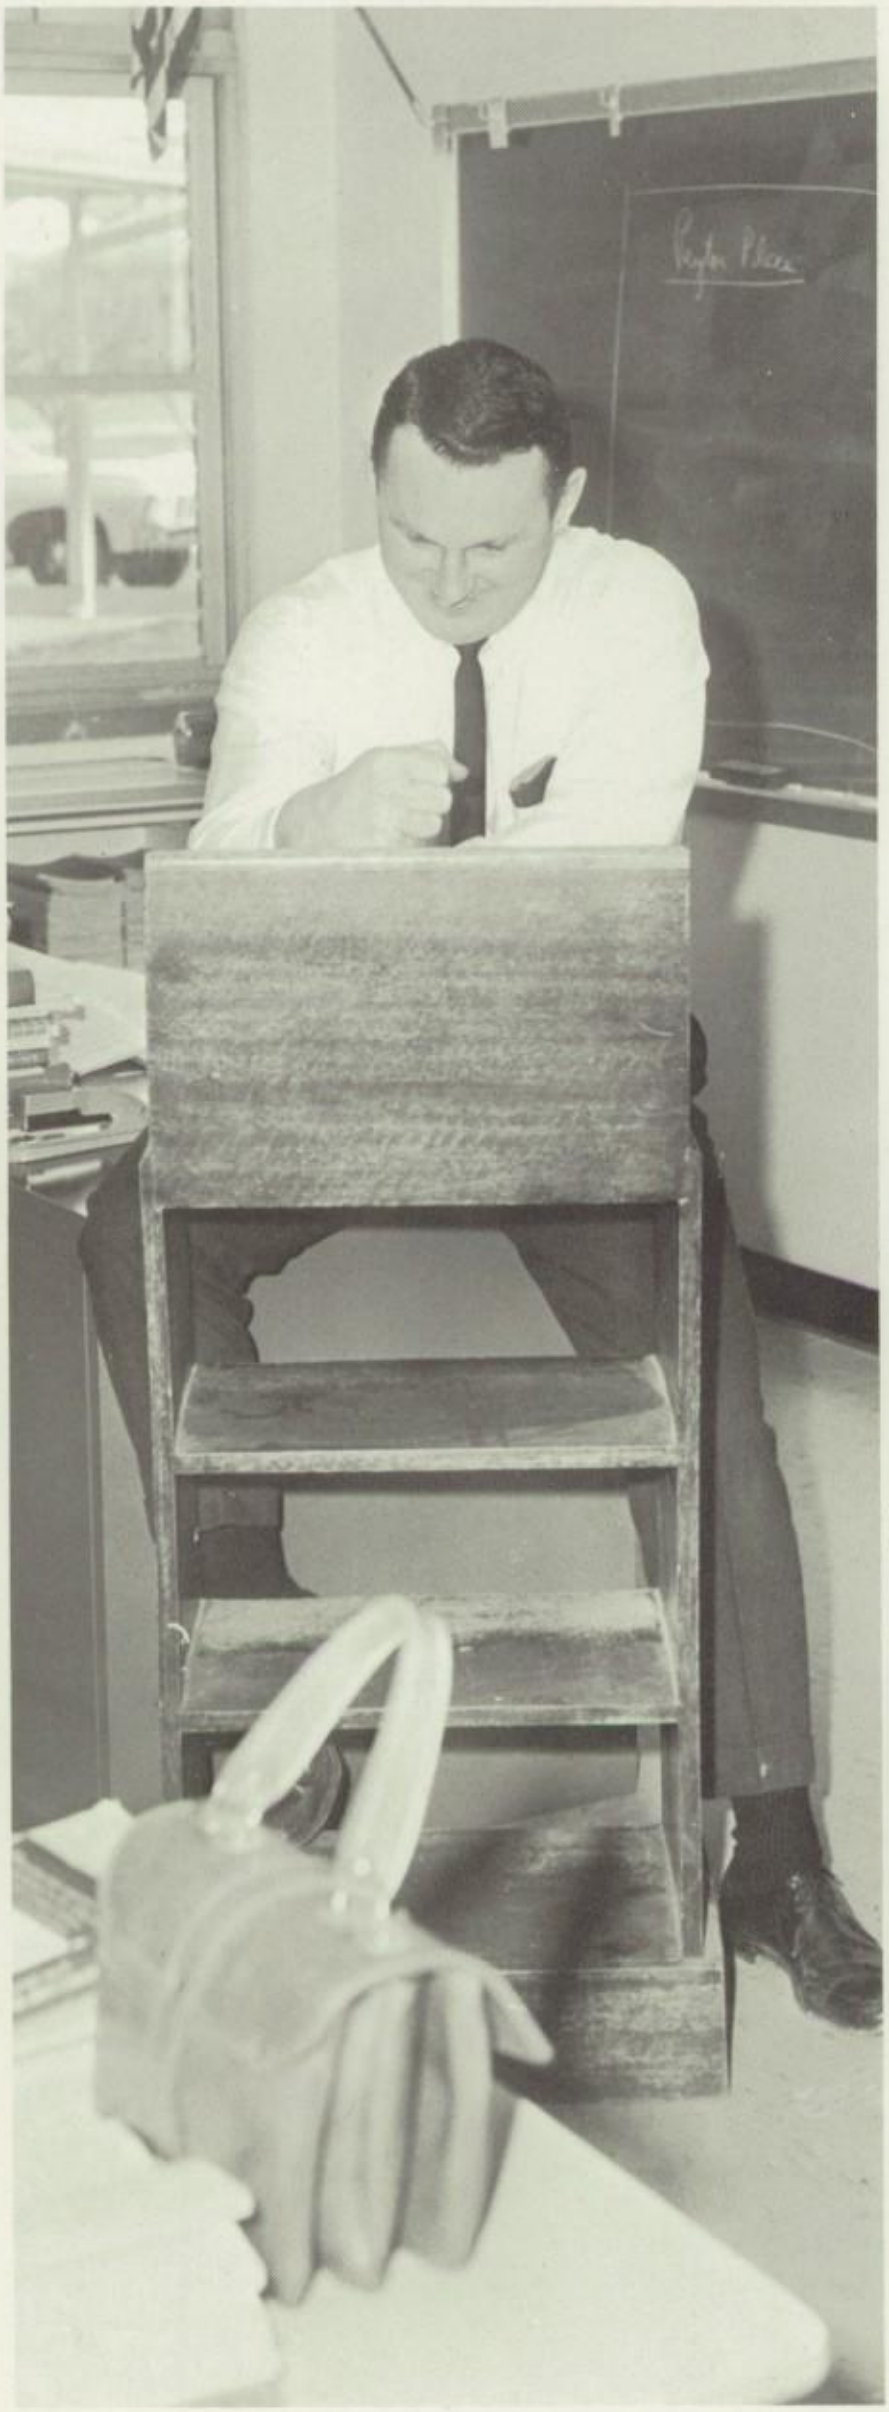
THROUGHOUT THE YEAR TEACHERS ARE FOUND INVOLVED



Mr. Johns—orator, actor, and comedian—hammers his words of wisdom into students as he attempts to impress the importance of comprehending literature.

Greek Peak took its toll when ski clubbers made their annual trek in February. Kris Reta, one of numerous casualties, gratefully accepts assistance from Mrs. Turnquist.

IN MANY ACTIVITIES

"Let's go, Big Green!" Mr. Shaak shouts words of encouragement to the mighty Green Hornets from his customary stand.

While students rush through lunches, teachers gather around their lunch table for their daily discussions—problems, accomplishments—.

MAJORETTES AND CHEERLEADERS ADDED COLOR TO FOOTBALL

Watching Carson Raudenbush herald a touchdown with cannon fire, but wary of the noise, cheerleaders Sally Stringer, Linda Brimlow, Colleen Kells, Bonnie Zimmerman, Penny Follette, Sharon Nester, and Joan Derr join Ann Puzauskas, the hornet mascot.

Typically, two senior majorettes relax momentarily to enjoy the game as frantic junior members have a final consultation.

SCHOOL DANCES-ANY STYLE

Chosen to reign on Sadie Hawkins Day, Pam Stead and John Kramer look extremely happy as King and Queen of Dogpatch.

Science invaded the Student Council Dance as curious hundreds flocked to discover their computer chosen "perfect" mates.

A familiar sight at every dance, our own disc jockey, Dave Schaeffer, spins records at the senior dance "The Bullwanger" and seems oblivious to the op art around him.

SENIOR CLASS PLAY—"UTOPIA INC."

"What? Five thousand dollars for a bracelet!" explodes Mr. Smith to his frightened wife. Dave Reichard and Chris Anderson excellently portrayed the roles of Mr. and Mrs. Smith.

As the curtain rises the celestial messenger, Joan Derr, delivers a message to St. Elmer, Rick Wetzel.

CAST. David Schaeffer, D. Patricia Reedy, Stephen Senderowitz, Sheri Seckinger, David Linn, Dawn Reichard, David Reichard, Christian Anderson, Lynn Johnson, Victor Lagnena, Carol Gerhard, Denise Gaugler, Joan Derr, Scott Deischer, Rick Wetzel, Mr. Woodrow Schaadt (Director).

BRINGS A BIT OF HEAVEN TO A CAPACITY CROWD

"Oh my — ! Look at that crowd!!" Debbie Krause peeks apprehensively between the curtains on opening night of the play "Utopia".

Clutching her worn suitcase, Denise Gaugler makes her entrance as the cheerful redheaded Irish maid, Melody McGinnis.

MUMS, SHAKERS, CHEERS AND TEARS

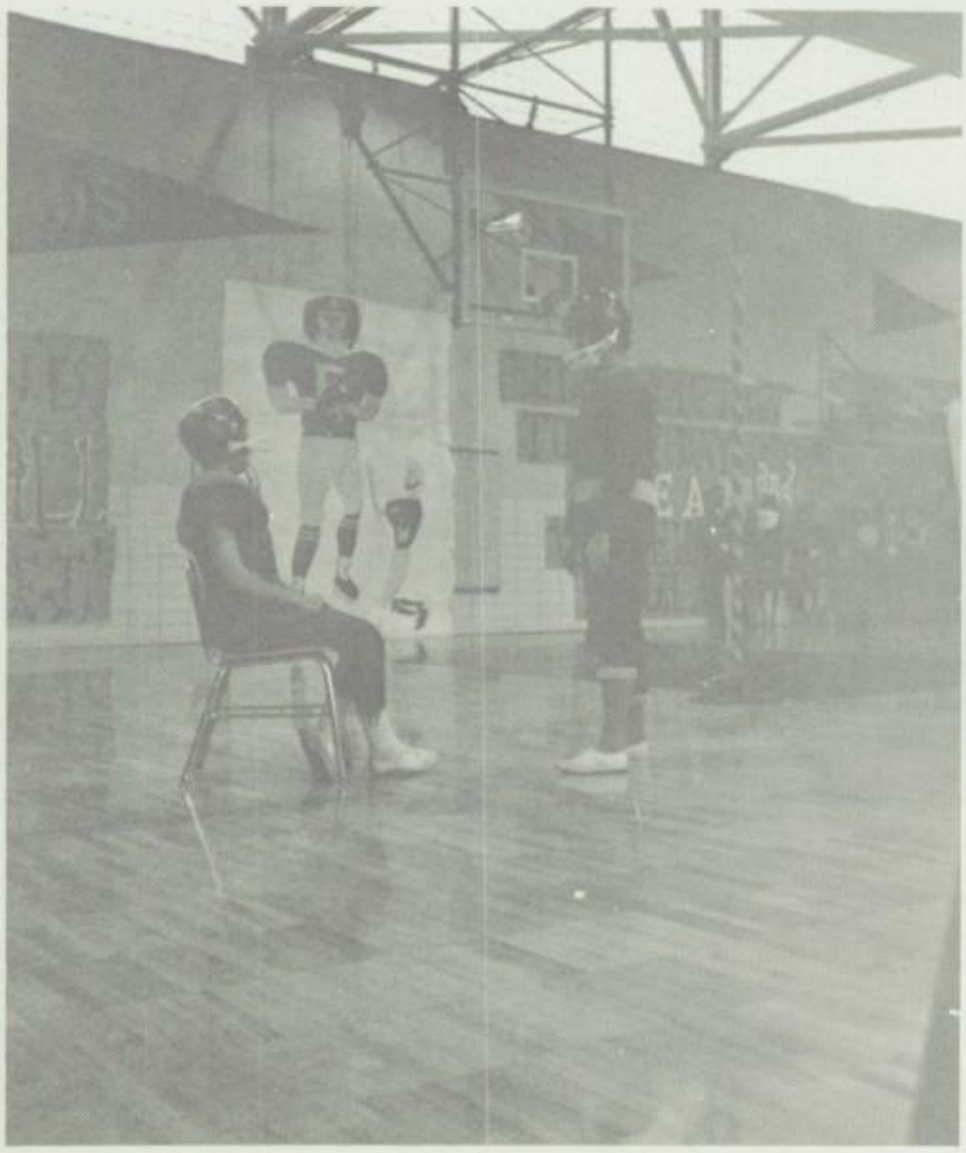
Preparations for the Thanksgiving game really get under way as Sue Haklitch and Donna Heimbach cover the school halls with signs. Their color and spirited messages served well to boost the Green Hornets spirit and morale.

Glowing with happiness football queen, Linda Brimlow, and her court, fellow cheerleaders, Sharon Nester, Joan Derr, and Sally Stringer circle the Whitehall football field on the EHS float during half-time on Turkey Day.

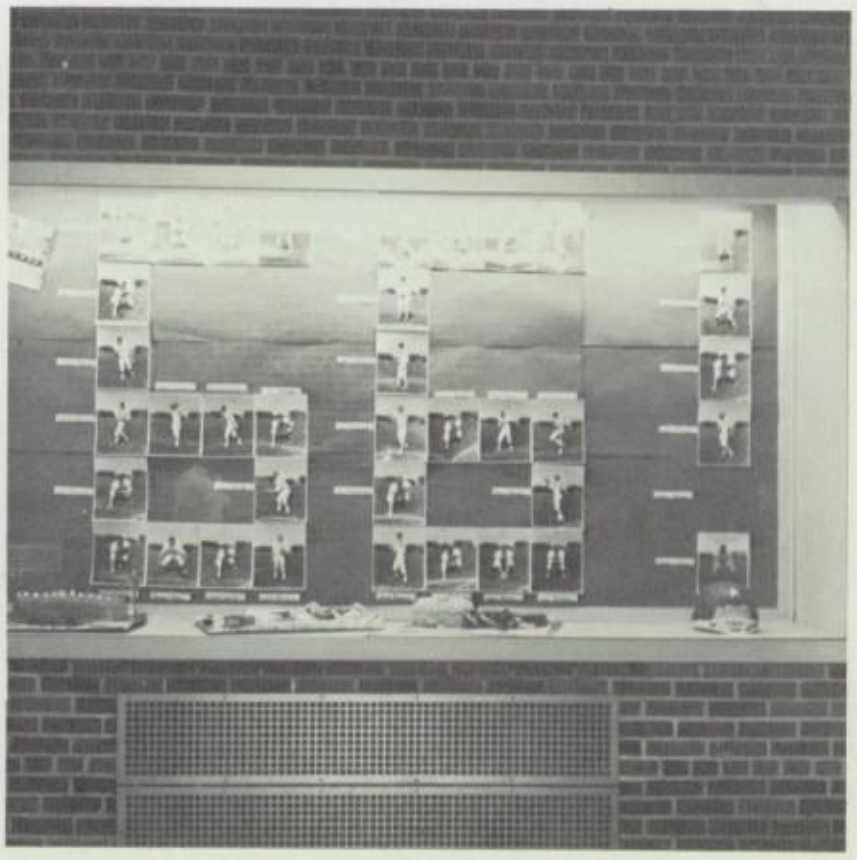
HIGHLIGHT FESTIVITIES AS FALL DRAWS TO A CLOSE

Turkey Day marked the beginning of a new tradition at Emmaus High. Football players attracted attention by wearing their numbered jerseys the day before the game while cheerleaders waited upon them. Note Bonnie Zimmerman helping Dennis Snyder, Andy Hobbie, and John Beers with their books!!

Judie Nonnemacher and Agnes Hillegas, participants in the Pep Club skit, "Little Green Victory", add excitement to the rally.



Pictures of football players form an appropriate background for displaying winning cakes in the annual baking contest.



CHRISTMAS AFFECTS EVERYTHING—ASSEMBLIES AND LUNCHTIME

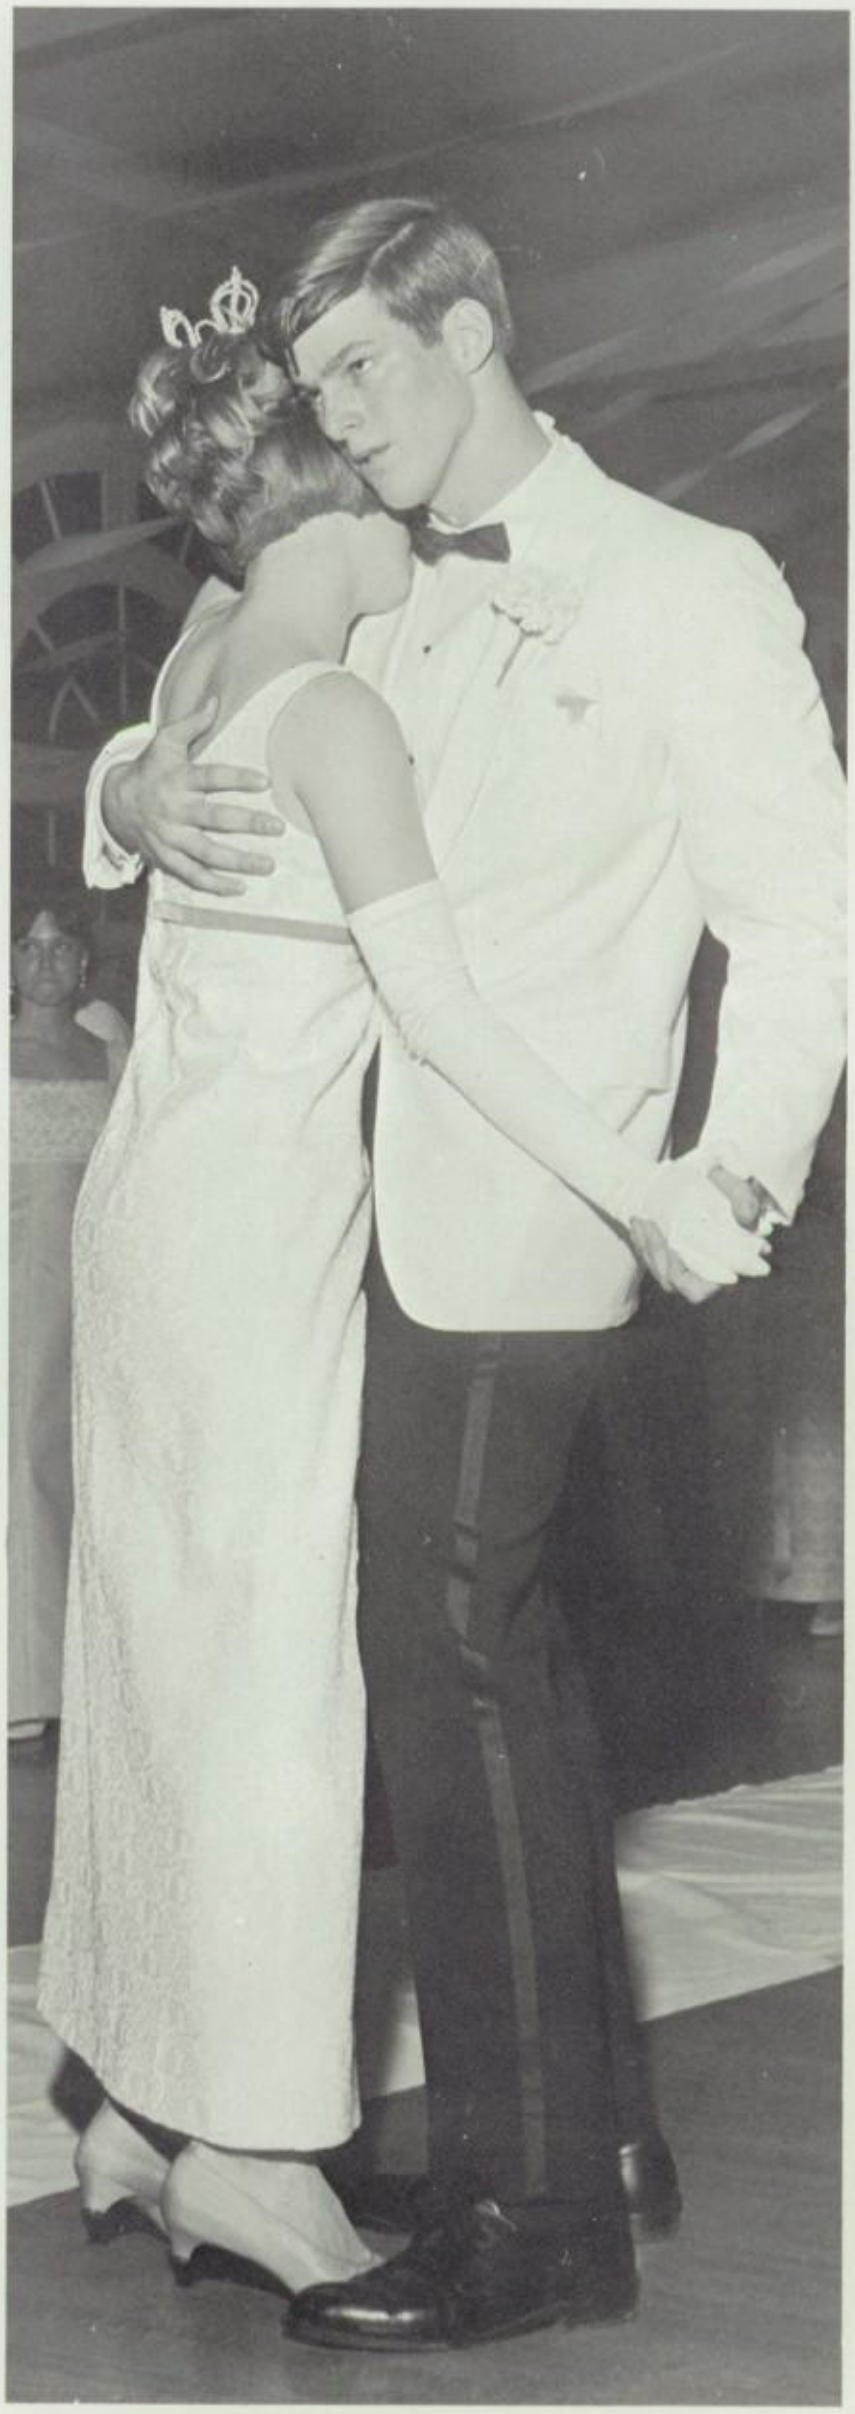
Holiday spirit reigned supreme at E.H.S. in an assembly of Christmas music by the band and the Concert Choir with tableau scenes by the Drama Club.

"Anybody want a coke?" Senior girls in Cafeteria I express their festive Christmas mood with a feast, attracting the attention of many students who were not prepared for such a drastic change in the Cafeteria cuisine and who wished to join in.

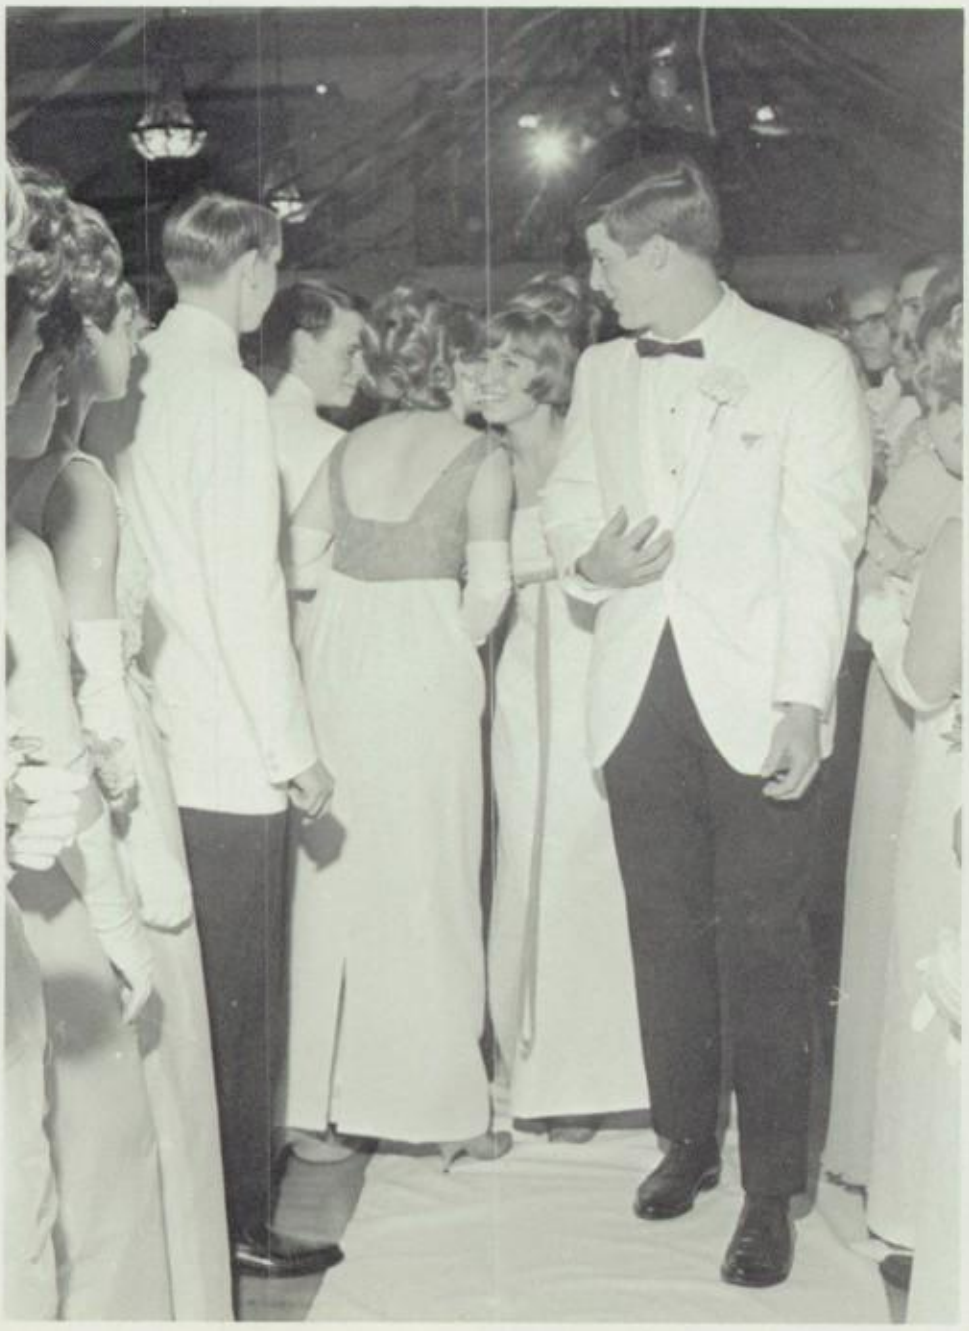
SPRING CONJURES MEMORIES OF A NIGHT OF MARDI GRAS

A pressed flower, a dance program, a balloon, a crown — these are the memories of the Junior Prom. April 29, 1966, approximately three-hundred Juniors and their guests drove to the Bethlehem Masonic Temple for the pre-prom dinner and dance. Mardi Gras formed the setting for the fun and festivity. Tuxedoed boys and beautifully-gowned girls spent the evening dancing to the music of the Royal Dukes.

All eagerly awaited the moment for the crowning of the Prom Queen. Spectators shared the excitement and thrills felt by Marie DeLong as she heard herself being announced as queen. Honor fell to her court comprising Dana Benson, Kathy DeLong, Renee Greenawalt, and Kathy Kirby.



Below: Prom Queen Marie DeLong receives a congratulatory kiss from Karen Brown as she tearfully walks to her throne. Right: Queen Marie and her escort, Ronald Bortz, lead the dancing following the crowning before admiring classmates.



A SUDDEN FLASH CATCHES MANY IN THE ACT AND...???

Weary Tattler Staff members Linda Damiani, Pat Reedy, Barb Harries, Cindy Schlegel, Georgia Gasper, and Alice Kistler soon found the yearbook photographer to be sneakier than they thought, as he caught them in an unguarded moment.

"Don't forget to meet me at the bus!" reminds Dotty's sister. "Don't I always?" Such scenes as this marked the end of the day as the photographer catches Dotty Wilson and Barbara Schmidt making their daily stop at their lockers.

As Joan Kemmerer speeds to the locker room door, Joann Oleksa drops sweatsuits down the towel chute.

"Hey!" Randie Feller and Sandie Mauer, caught eavesdropping and startled by the sudden flash, hide a surreptitious caller.

E.H.S. students pour out of the auditorium following assembly, one of four Lyceums scheduled by Student Council to provide several entertaining hours for the student body as a welcome break from classroom routine.

ORGANIZATION AND TEAMWORK ENABLE EFFICIENCY AND SUCCESS

Endeavoring to stimulate school spirit and improve school morale, Student Council initiated the school term with something new — soc-hops. Highlighting Student Council's calendar of activities, the Computer Dance and Bandstand Hop not only scored as great successes, but also reflected the diligent work and organization that characterized all Student Council functions.

Under the capable guidance of Mr. Franklin Roberts and competent leadership of its officers, Student Council functioned efficiently. As tentative plans for the installation of a scoreboard in the natatorium developed, the Council performed its routine activities. Striving to act upon student complaints, the Council took many propositions to the administration. Their sponsoring four Lyceum shows throughout the year brought a welcome break from classroom routine.

OLD AND NEW IDEAS COMBINED FOR QUALITY YEARBOOK

Tattler Staff, headed by Barbara Harries decided to incorporate the characteristics of last year's successful book. The senior class again adopted a measure to contact Hess's department store for exclusive photography rights. In exchange the company effected special rates for senior pictures. Sections were then organized, managing editors chosen, and pages assigned by mid-October. Discussions on money raising projects followed. Bake sales, a hoagie sale, and patron advertising helped to defray the costs of publication.

E-HIVE MEMBERS STRIVE TO PUBLISH TOP-NOTCH PAPER

The E-Hive writing staff strived to make the school newspaper one of first quality according to standards set by the National Scholastic Press Association. Meeting monthly deadlines, members concentrated on reporting school news. The E-Hive also allowed students to express their opinions through the roving reporters.

The business staff assumed the responsibility for raising money by selling subscriptions, baked goods, and doughnuts, and organizing a spring carnival. Once again the Spring Carnival proved successful.

After serving satisfactorily for two years on the E-Hive, all senior members received an eight-inch chenille letter honoring their achievements.

NHS GIVES RECOGNITION TO TOP JUNIORS AND SENIORS

The National Honor Society, which gave recognition to the outstanding Junior and Seniors of Emmaus High School, inducted twenty-six new members in the traditional, candle-light ceremony. Students and parents alike witnessed the impressive induction, held early in February. Members continued to serve as tutors to those students in need of assistance. In March several senior members traveled to Lehigh University to attend a National Honor Society convention. Upon graduation members received gold Keys to honor them for outstanding scholastic achievement and service.

FTA MEMBERS RECEIVE ACTUAL TEACHING EXPERIENCE

Future Teachers of America aimed at exploring the advantages and disadvantages of teaching as a career. Members received actual teaching experience through the Cadet Training Program which enabled them to spend two days in elementary classrooms. The club services for the schools included tutoring seventh and eighth grade pupils and acting as teacher aides. They met jointly with Dieruff High School and prepared a play which they presented to the Emmaus Woman's Club. They worked seriously at money-raising projects to finance a scholarship for an FTA member planning to enter teaching.

DEBATERS COMPETE IN LEAGUE: LIBRARY PAGES SERVE

Striving for the improvement of forensic ability, the Debating Society opened its season with the scramble at Southern Lehigh High School. The club also competed in the Lehigh Valley Interscholastic Debating League, which included debates with Salisbury High and Liberty High, the semi-finals and finals.

Under the instructon of Mrs. Timbers, the Library Aides learned the many duties entailed in operating a library. Shelving books, keeping the card catalog up to date, they performed the endless chores expected of library pages. They stimulated student interest by periodically changing the library showcase displays.

SERVICE CLUBS PERFORM SCHOOL AND COMMUNITY DUTIES

Key Club International worked to promote service to school and community. They sacrificed free time to collect for charities, and in school they served as hosts at parent-teacher conferences and as ushers for the science fair. But the club had its share of fun, too. They sponsored a bus trip to Philadelphia to see a professional basketball game, and held a banquet honoring the alumni of the Emmaus Key Club. In December a riotous sight-seeing trip to New York City highlighted their year.

In September the many girls joining Y-Teens made it necessary to form two groups — Freshman-Sophomore Division, advised by Miss Howard, and the Senior Y-Teens, supervised by Mrs. Zinnes. Both groups strived for the same objective—raising money for the purpose of serving others while having fun. Their various service projects included distributing baskets to needy families in Emmaus, serving as hostesses at parent-teacher conferences, and visiting the Good Shepherd Home at Christmas. Their fun? A trip to New York City in the spring.

CLUB ACTIVITIES DEVELOP VARIOUS AREAS OF INTEREST

The Campus Life Club offered a comfortable atmosphere for discussion on various topics designed to help members become well adjusted teenagers. In an attempt to achieve their goal they secured competent speakers to offer ideas on related topics.

The Future Homemakers of America encouraged wholesome individual and group recreation. Attending a conference at Penn State University and Christmas caroling for guests of the Reinmiller Convalescent Home exemplified the type of activity which they enjoyed.

TECHNICAL AIDE PROVES USEFUL TO FACULTY AND SCHOOL

The show could not go on without the expert assistance of the Stage Crew. Their knowledge of sound and lighting alone played a vital part in any successful assembly program. Members readily volunteered their help to further the success of a production.

Projectionists also assisted any teacher with audio-visual equipment, its operation, and its use. Members had unlimited energy in filling requests for a projector or tape recorder. All members learned the skills connected with operating the equipment. They received first hand knowledge through a trip to the local TV station where they saw expert technicians at work.

VARSITY "E" EXEMPLIFIES TEAM WORK AND SPORTSMANSHIP

During the Faculty Game the unpredictable antics of the Emmaus and Slatington faculties send the audience into peels of laughter.

Students earning a varsity letter in sports received invitations in fall to join the Varsity "E" Club. Once organized, the club began working assiduously to raise money for the traditional Varsity "E" jackets. Under the leadership of their adviser, Mr. Neff, members undertook numerous bake sales, a hoagie sale, and sponsorship of dances after the basketball games. By Spring each member sported his green and gold blazer. Besides working on fund-raising projects, club members performed various school services. They ushered at many athletic events and school functions. They also held the Faculty Game, in which the EHS and Slatington faculties displayed their athletic skill — or lack of it.

Under the expert leadership of Mrs. Herman the Dolphins again presented their annual water show to the delight of relatives and friends. This year's aquacade, "School Daze", transformed the natatorium into a memory book. Linda Brimlow and Pat Reedy, serving as narrators for the aquacade, reminisced about the exciting events which characterized school life from the Kindergarten "Rhythm Band" to "Graduation". Pam Stead, President of the club, and the other Seniors wrote the script, made the decorations, and planned and directed most of the numbers. All eyes focused on the fifty-five members of the club as they performed, and Pam Stead again soloed in her rendition of "Prom Queen". Profits from the aquacade went towards the purchasing of a scoreboard for the natatorium.

RIFLE CLUB

SPRING SPORTS CLUBS ATTRACT BOTH NOVICES AND PROS

Both girls and boys enthusiastically reported to the first meeting of the Rifle Club, advised by Mr. Hill. The club elected Bruce Johnson president, Barry Brensinger vice-president, Roxy Leonard secretary, Susan Ritter treasurer, and Jeff Jaindl executive officer. Members learned of the proper care and safe handling of firearms and the fundamentals of target shooting.

When the snow fell, Miss Smith and her skiers headed for Apple Hill and Greek Peak slopes. The club elected Kerry Kramer president, Carol Litrides vice-president, Penny Follette secretary, and Roxy Leonard treasurer.

The Golf Club members, advised by Mr. Smith, waited anxiously for the disappearance of snow in order to tee off for their interclub tournaments.

SCHOOL SPIRIT ENHANCED BY PEP CLUB

In the fall, Pep Club members designed a showcase to pay tribute to our football coaches and teams.

Enthusiastic, persistent, and hard-working all describe Emmaus High Pep Clubbers. Pep Club has continued their promoting of school spirit throughout the year. For each sport, Pep Club had announced games on blackboards, made tags to be worn by students, and raised their voices in cheer. Different committees could be seen working on the showcase, improving the hornet costume and making pin-on signs. For the Turkey Day game, the girls decorated the Coaches' doors. They also presented a victory skit for the Whitehall Emmaus pep rally. Members also met to originate cheers for the hard-working cheerleaders.

In addition to raising their voices in school spirit, the club had the important project of raising money. By holding bakesales, the club hoped to make a sizeable contribution towards the purchasing of an electric scoreboard for the natatorium.

OFFICERS. Pat Nelson, Secretary; Marie DeLong, Vice-President; Judie Nonnemacher, President; Tammara Michael, Treasurer; Mr. Schantzenbach, Advisor.

MAJORETTES AND COLOR GUARD ADD SPIRIT TO THE BAND

A group of lively highstepping majorettes, led by Jeanne Bornman, enthusiastically marched with the band, twirling their batons all the while. The ingenious routines presented during the halftimes of both football and basketball games provided enjoyment for our fans as well as visitors. In order to present the best performance of which they were capable, the majorettes attended Carol Houck's Majorette Clinic in July.

Gun-drilling colorguards, commanded by Candy Gerhard, introduced our band in style in numerous parades. Their snappy routines introduced the National Anthem prior to the opening of home basketball games.

Both the majorettes and colorguards practiced unceasingly during summer vacation and after school to present top rate performances. A trip to Expo 67 with the band served as a well deserved reward.

As a finale to every halftime performance the majorettes join the band to march down the football field in the familiar formation of the "Big E".

HARD WORK AND PRACTICE FIT BAND FOR "EXPO 67"

The Emmaus High School band, under the direction of Mr. Long, high-stepped down football fields and winding parade routes. At the beginning of the year, the band elected David Reichard President, Bruce Rohrbach Vice-President, Virginia Wetzel Recording Secretary, Yvonne Wilfinger, her assistant, Robert Brensinger Promotion Secretary, Nancy Trexler, his assistant, and Mark Roth Historian. Scott Deischer again assumed the position of drum major.

While providing musical experience and activities that aided in the development of the individual student's talents and creativity, the band also provided an organized performing unit functioning in behalf of the school and students. The band also enhanced school spirit and continuously created favorable public relations between school and community.

At mid-term the band received an invitation to represent Pennsylvania, along with several other Pennsylvania bands, at Expo 67, Canada's Centennial Celebration in Montreal. The offer was graciously accepted; preparations for the spectacular appearance began immediately.

CHORAL GROUPS OFFER OUTLET FOR MUSIC-MINDED STUDENTS

Multi-talented Joel Schuster surprises the student audience by playing the harmonica during the Thanksgiving assembly.

Organized vocal groups gave students not enrolled in a music elective an opportunity to perform in public. Under the instruction of Mr. G. Wesley Sell, members of the Concert Choir, Mixed Ensemble, and Glee Club provided entertaining music for both the student body and the public. Their assemblies added to the festive atmosphere surrounding the Christmas and Easter seasons. They also performed publicly for community groups such as the Lehigh County Institute, the School Directors' Convention, Emmaus Woman's Club, and the Christmas and Spring Concerts.

MUSIC ENTHUSIASTS FIND OUTLETS FOR THEIR TALENTS

The Hootenanny Club, directed by its adviser, Mr. Sell, provided an opportunity for students interested in folk music to meet and share their ideas. Through practice, the club members improved their techniques and learned to create beautiful music together.

The "Esquires", directed by Mr. Long, gained valuable experience in the performance of modern style music. Whenever incidental music was needed to add atmosphere to an occasion, the Esquires were willing and available for the performance.

CONGENIAL COOKS PATIENTLY SERVE 1500 STUDENTS DAILY

When lunchtime came each day, the cooks were kept busy by mobs of E.H.S. students eagerly rushing to the cafeterias. The students were served their lunches in surroundings kept spotless by the cooks.

An added attraction in the lunches this year was an assortment of creative A'la Carte salads in addition to the usual hot lunches. These salads were given a rousing reception—especially from the dieters.

A job well done,
a task completed,
GRADUATES
step toward their final goals, wherever they may be,
with mingled joy
and regret.
Ahead lies the future to do with as they will.

"Congratulations team won first place Public High School division."

These words were received by Mrs. Yeager in a telegram on March 23rd. Her senior shorthand class had won a contest in which they were one of five runners-up last year. Prizes were awarded on shorthand style only and notes were required to be written fluently and accurately. Paying close attention to the form of curves, size of circles, length of strokes, and slant, students wrote at a normal speed. Only one paper could be entered by any one contestant. The exhibit copy could have been practiced for the development of a good style before the final copy was written. Only one team, fifteen or more contestants, could enter from a school. The examination fee was 15-cents for each submission and a certificate was issued to each qualifying contestant. By capturing first place in the public high school division, our team received a Trophy Cup and a $25 U.S. Savings Bond.

MERLE CONNORS
Faculty Manager of Athletics

ATHLETIC STAFF PROVIDES

In his first year as Faculty Manager of Athletics, Mr. Connors faced many different problems, such as the preparation of schedules, the cancellation of events due to bad weather, the sale of basketball and football season tickets, and the leasing of buses for athletic events. He also helped to arrange the Lehigh Valley League Wrestling meet held at Emmaus in February.

Generally speaking, the Faculty Manager had to coordinate the Emmaus High athletic program, now consisting of thirteen varsity sports. His position required much time and effort, but Mr. Connors performed his duties admirably.

With the addition of Cross Country and Rifle teams to the Hornet athletic program, Mr. Schantzenbach and Mr. Hill became members of the Varsity coaching staff. Otherwise, the talented athletic staff continued intact. The coaches exercised fine leadership by emphasizing scholarship, sportsmanship and character, as well as championship performance.

Unfortunately, many E. H. S. fans failed to realize the difficulty of the task involved in coaching a team of young people. A good coach possesses numerous outstanding qualities, such as expert leadership ability, genuine interest in youth and everlasting patience. E. H. S. coaches definitely typified these traits.

Emmaus Varsity and Junior Varsity cheerleaders deserved hearty recognition for a job well done. The girls, instructed by Miss Armitage, performed with zest to boost the morale of all E. H. S. athletes. With honest sportsmanship, the Lassies led the fans in supporting all the teams in both victory and defeat.

In August the experienced gals attended a camp where they acquired new cheers and skills, which helped them in developing their imaginative routines. The Varsity squad spent summer afternoons canvassing neighborhoods seeking patrons for the Booster Club.

In September the lively girls led the pep section in cheering at all football games. To highlight the season Linda Brimlow reigned as Turkey Day Queen. Seniors Sharon Nestor, Linda Brimlow, Sally Stringer, and Joan Derr ended their duties by boosting the Hornets to victory in their last cage tilt in mid-February. The gals successfully aroused interest and spirit in Hornet athletics.

HORNETS WALLOP NORTHAMPTON—A LONG AWAITED THRILL

In spite of losing the opening game to Parkland the powerful Hornet offense aided the team in handily defeating Quakertown by a score of 30-0.

The Hornets opened their League season by easily trouncing Stroudsburg 41-12. Doubtless, the Northhampton game proved to be the most thrilling of the season. Elated Emmanus fans cheered as E.H.S. upset the Kids 28-6 for the first time since 1940.

The team continued these winning ways by defeating Slatington and Catasauqua. Unfortunately that strong winning combination failed for the Hornets. They lost to Lehighton and Palmerton. However, the team defeated Wilson by a narrow margin. With that victory the team carried more hope into its annual Thanksgiving Day tilt with Whitehall. Unfortunately, the Hornets lost a well-fought encounter 13-6, but they still chalked up a six and four season.

Competing with grit and stamina, the Little Hornets deserved maximum credit for earning third position in League competition. Their fine record of six victories and three losses reflected the fine coaching of Mr. Shaak, Mr. MacLaughlin, and Mr. Woginrich, who also served as freshman coach.

Quarterback Phil Rotherham led the team to a 20-12 victory over Parkland. The grid squad failed to beat Quakertown; however, the team handed shutouts to both Stroudsburg and Northampton. Dan Sicher returned a punt ninety-five yards for a score during the Northampton game. The grid squad experienced a demoralizing upset at the hands of Slatington, but bounced back by crushing Catasauqua. After falling to unbeaten Lehighton, the Little Hornets walloped Palmerton. In its last game, the team edged Whitehall to close a successful season.

STRONG PASSING OFFENSE BLITZED OPPOSING DEFENSES

Thom Saeger hurdles a Parkland defensive player.

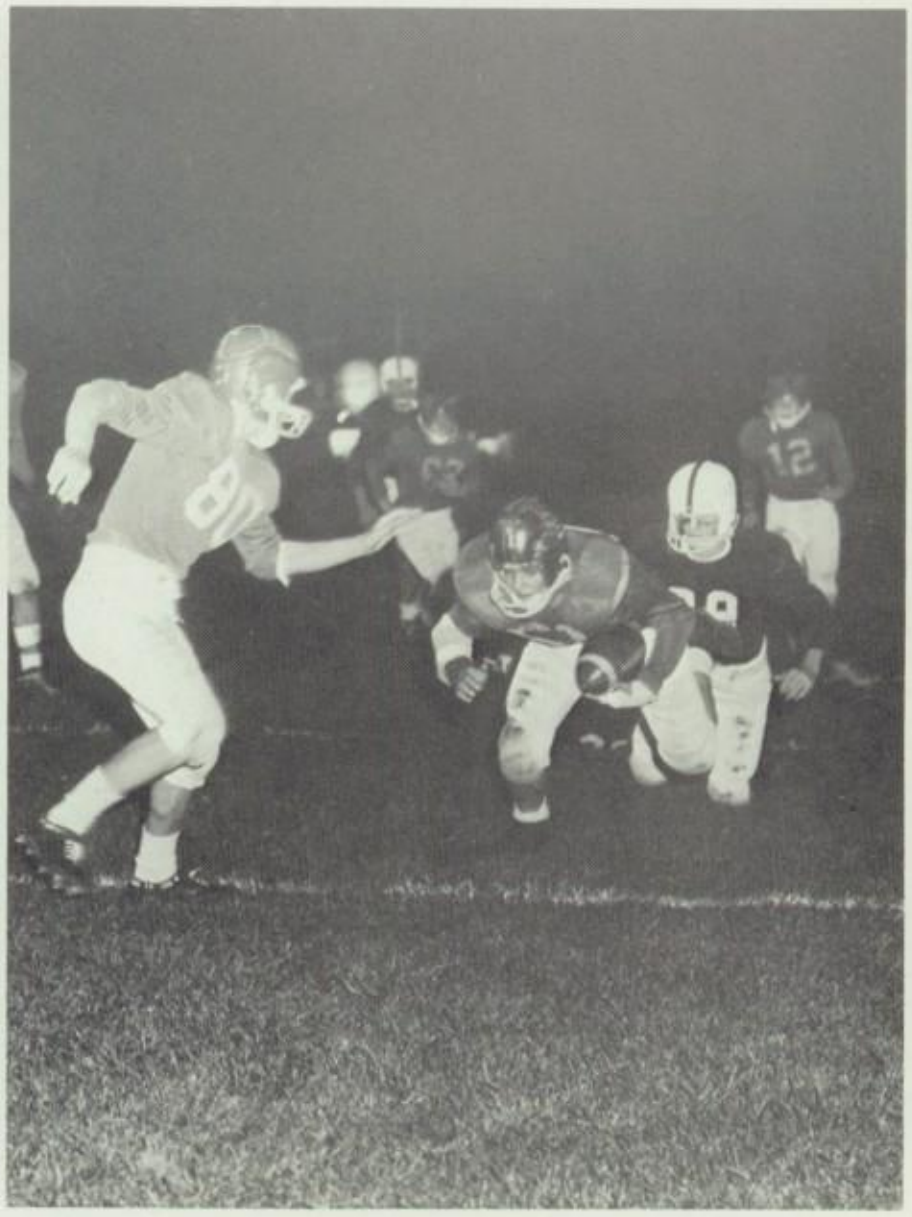
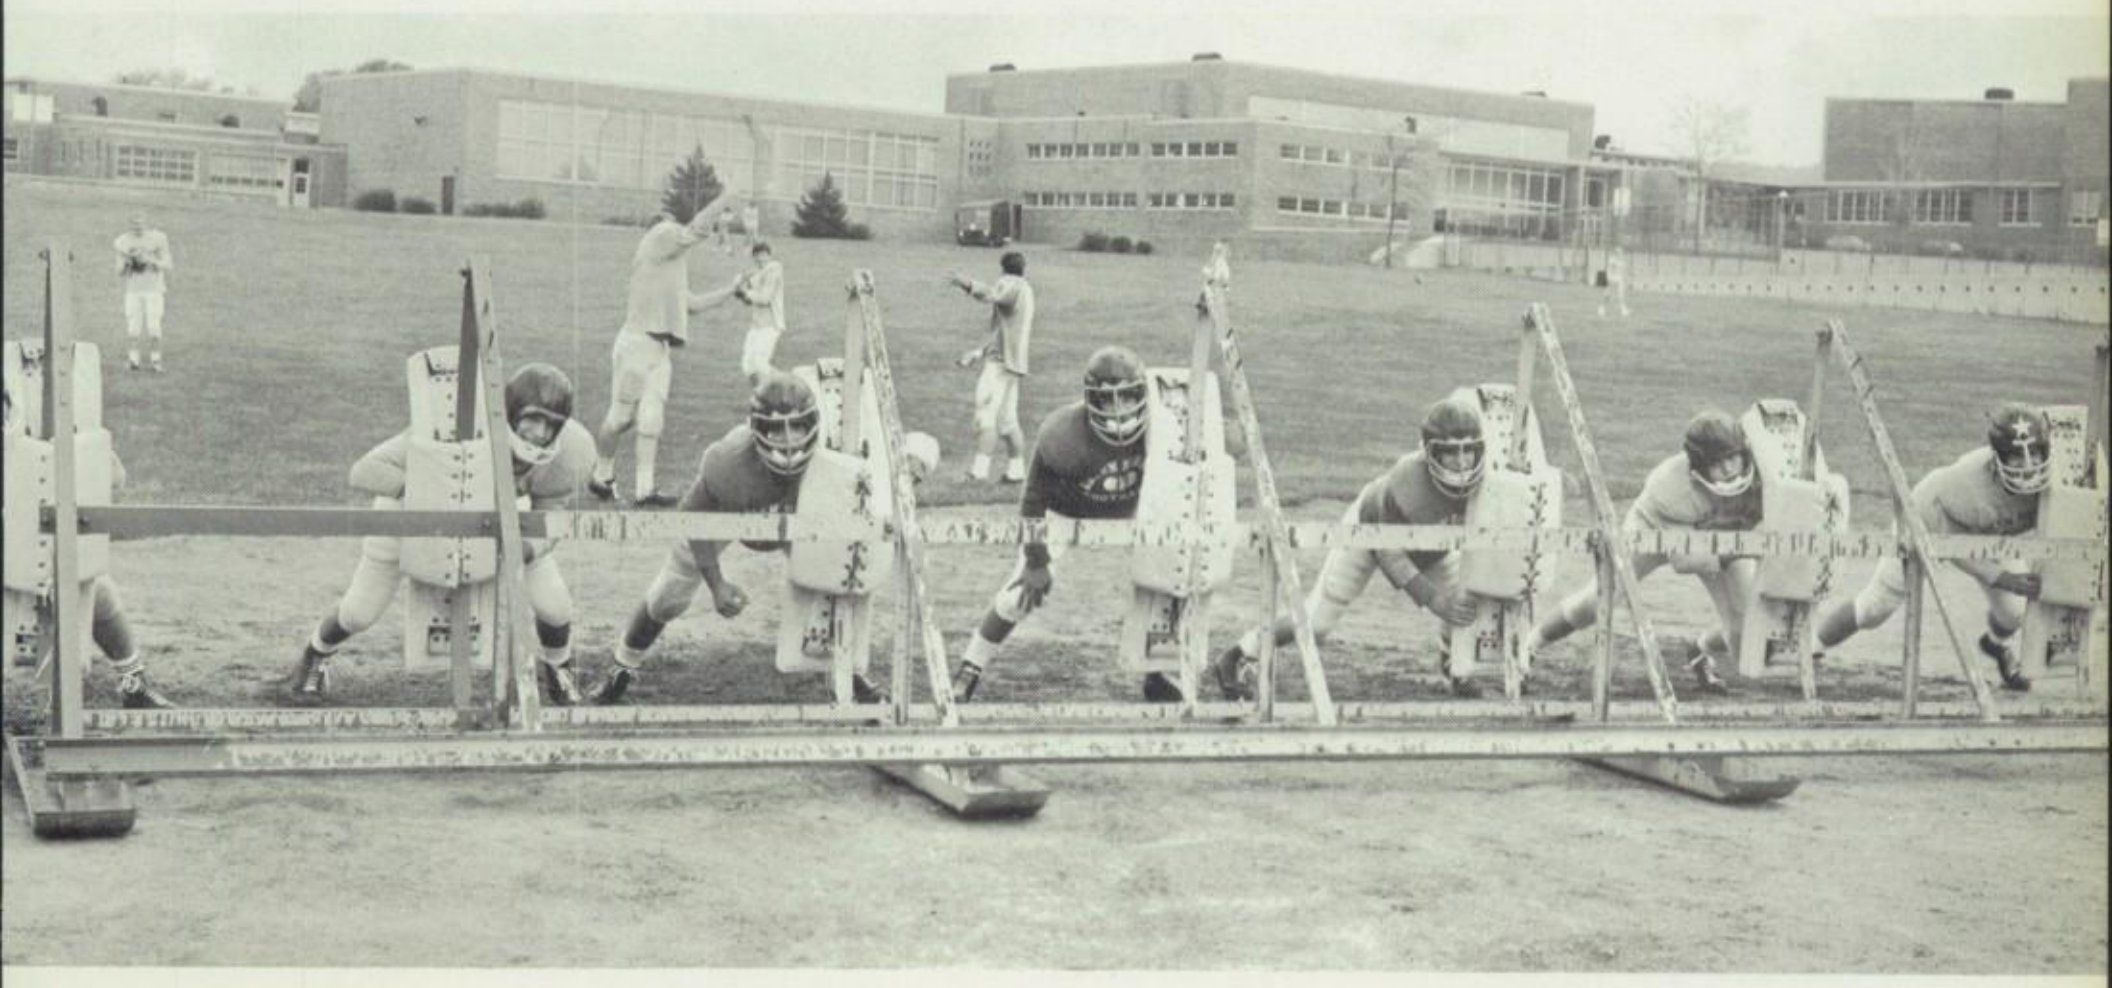
Emmaus end, Dennis Groller, scampers desperately to snatch a pass fired by quarterback Tom Heist against Parkland.



J.V. fullback, Philip Weida, bursts through the Catasauqua defense to score and clinch another victory.

GRUELLING PRACTICE AND TOUGH SCRIMMAGES PREP HORNETS

Hard practicing Emmaus linemen attack the seven man sled to shape up for their traditional arch-rival, Northampton. Determination paid off when the Hornets steamrolled over the Kids, 28-6 defeating Northampton for the first time in fourteen years.



HORNETTES WIN SECOND STRAIGHT HOCKEY CHAMPIONSHIP

WITH SUPERIOR PLAYING

Under the watchful eye of Coach Virginia Herman, the girls' Field Hockey team brought home the Penn-Jersey Hockey League Championship for the second year. Decisive victories were scored against very tough opponents—Southern Lehigh, Whitehall, and Northampton.

The J.V. Hockey Team, with predominantly first year members, had a winning season, their only loss going to Parkland 4-3.

CROSS COUNTRY TEAM TRIES, BUT LACKS EXPERIENCE

Beginning its first season at Emmaus High School, the cross country team, under the capable leadership of Coach Eugene Schantzenbach, had a slow start, losing to Dieruff, Parkland, Southern Lehigh and William Allen. Continued improvement throughout the season enabled the team to finish with two victories, one over Brandywine and the other over Easton. In the District Eleven Class A meet the cross country team placed third among seven schools.

The captain and also the outstanding runner, Vic Lagnena, received a medal at the Palisades Invitational Cross Country meet for placing fifth. He also led the team to a third place in the District meet, in which he placed third.

NEW SKILLS DEVELOPED IN ENTERING RIFLE COMPETITION

For the first time E.H.S. students made full use of the rifle range by becoming a member of the North Eastern Pennsylvania Interscholastic League, which is composed of seven teams. There was a fine turnout of forty-two students interested in competing against other schools. A point system was used to determine who would make the team and fifteen riflemen were chosen. At each meet ten team members competed and the five highest individual scores determined the team score. A fine coaching job by Mr. Hill distinguished the first year in competition with which the team and Mr. Hill were well pleased. The team closed the season looking forward to returning for a second successful season.

Coach Richard Shaak's Varsity basketball squad racked up a record of seven victories and seven defeats in League competition. The record was quite an improvement over that of the previous season. One of the main reasons for the team's fine performance was the outstanding play of sophomore Roy Stauffer, who led the team in scoring. Stauffer also ranked third in the Lehigh Valley League scoring race and was chosen as a member of the All-League basketball squad. Senior Greg Brown also contributed to the Hornet's fine record. His rebounding strength and scoring punch gave Emmaus exactly what it needed to emerge as victor, and with his teammates gave the Green and Gold their hard fought triumphs. The team managed to defeat Catasauqua and Northampton twice by good margins, their other wins being Slatington, Palmerton, and Lehighton. The E. H. S. Varsity brought the fans many thrilling moments during an exciting season.

Unquestionably, the Junior Varsity basketball squad, under the leadership of Mr. David MacLaughlin, had a very unrewarding season. The lack of success was caused primarily by the team's lack of experience. The squad was quite young and had no returning letterwinners. The season was in full swing before the fellows won their initial game over Whitehall. They registered only two more victories, both over Lehighton. The squad opened each game with good scoring but somehow failed to keep up the pace. Thus, the squad lost many disheartening games. Sophomores David Rarich and Phillip Rotherham led the team in scoring. In addition to the Junior Varsity team, the newly established Freshman team, under the leadership of Mr. Schantzenbach, began training E. H. S. basketeers for the future.

Greg Brown outleaps a powerful opponent to block a potential game winning field goal as Emmaus and Palmerton players await the outcome.

Palmerton and Emmaus players look to see if John Kovish has adequately blocked a Palmerton shot.

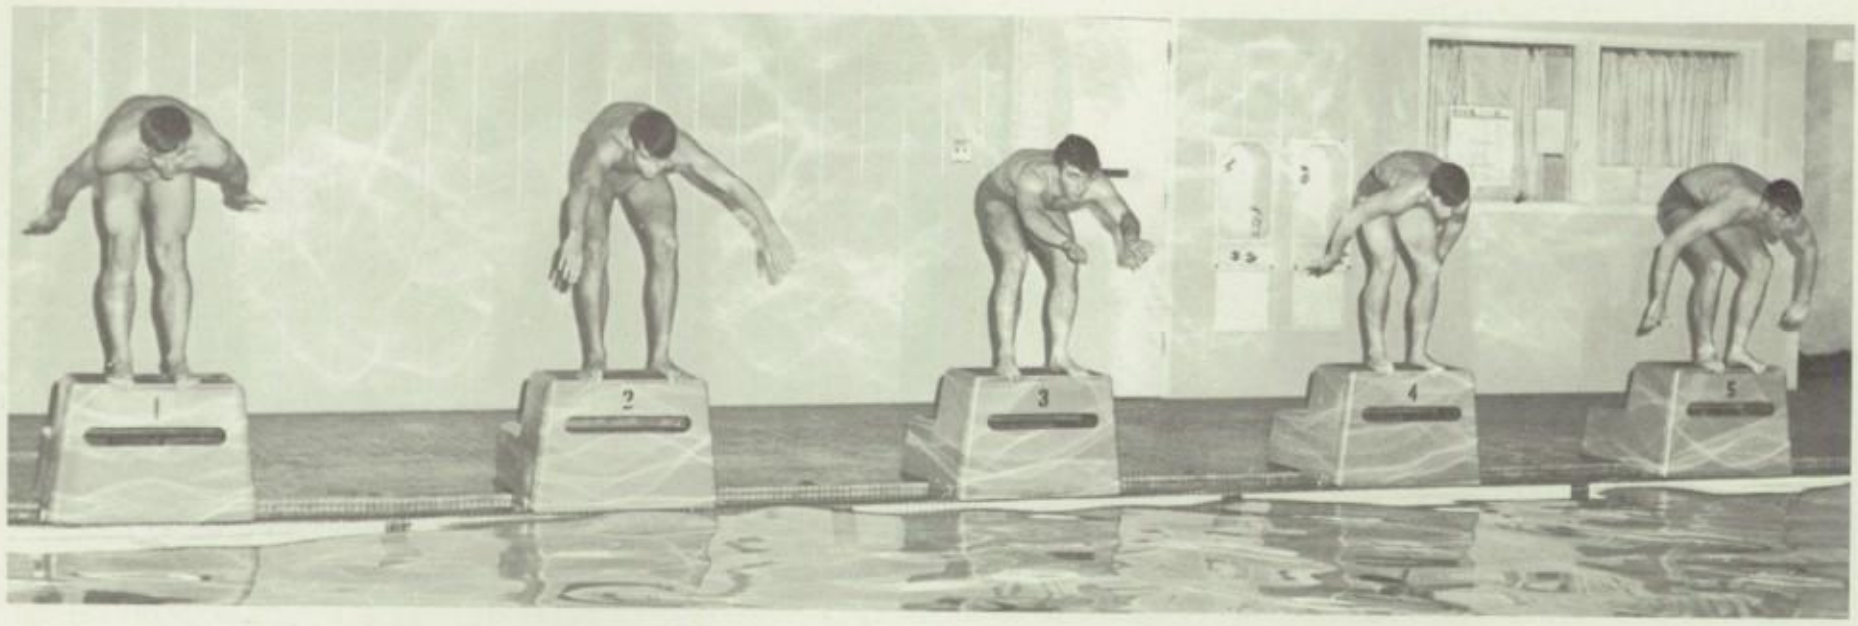
Continuing its tradition of having won many Lehigh Valley League championships, the girls' basketball team registered one more perfect season of eighteen victories and no losses. This record marked the team's first such accomplishment since the 1963-1964 season. The Hornette's decisive win against Central Catholic in a pre-season exhibition game set the trend.

Approximately fifty girls turned out for practice in November. After the final cuts were made in early December, twenty-four gained positions on the team. In one of its very first scrimmages, the squad literally trounced host Parkland 100-46. When the League season opened in January, the lively Hornettes easily defeated their initial four opponents. When meeting Catasauqua, also a championship contender, the Hornettes found themselves down by ten points in the opening period; however, when the gals got rolling, they easily swamped Catasauqua. Their next big game was with Northampton, with whom they were tied. The Hornettes effortlessly trounced the Kids on the Northampton boards. Later in the season, the two teams met again at Emmaus, at which time the team stung Northampton to clinch another league crown.

Freshman Peg Coker contributed much to the team's efforts, augmented by senior co-captains JoAnn Oleksa and Trudy Fishburn. Coker and Oleksa ranked first and third, respectively, in league scoring. For her skilled performances JoAnn Oleksa received the Most Valuable Player Award at the annual winter sports assembly.



Scenes such as this are not unusual. Hard work and perseverance at practice awarded the swimmers with a satisfying and successful season.

VARSITY SWIMMERS MAKE FINE SHOWING AT DISTRICTS

RECORDS ARE SET AND RESET AS SWIMMERS SHOW PROMISE

Eleven returning varsity lettermen led the swimming team through a successful season under the attentive eyes of Coach William Imschweiler and his assistant, Mr. Frank Roberts. Boasting a 6-3 season, the swimmers set and reset new records, leaving not one remaining unchanged.

To climax an excellent season the swimming team placed third in the annual District XI Swimming and Diving Championships held at Lehigh University. Joel Schuster and Gary Wetherhold placed first and second respectively in the diving competition. In the 200-yard Medley Relay, Fegley, Fiest, Smith, and Kline led the Hornets to a first place finish. The 400-yard Free-style Relay Team took second garnered, for the team, 50 points plus two gold two silver and two bronze medals.

Well deserving swimmers represented E.H.S. in both the Regional and State meets where they added further glory to the season's record.

E.H.S. WRESTLERS SEND REPRESENTATIVE TO REGIONALS

One of Emmaus' outstanding grapplers, Steve Huddleston, gains the advantage over his opponent from Whitehall as he attempts to put his challenger into position for a pin. With Steve's help Emmaus finally overtook Whitehall.

GREAT POTENTIAL IS DISPLAYED BY E.H.S. GRAPPLERS

Spurred by District Eleven champion Steve Huddleston, the Emmaus wrestling team exceeded all expectations. Despite an early season loss to Lehighton, the Green Hornets came back strongly to defeat Northampton for the first time in E. H. S. history. After losing to tough Stroudsburg and Dieruff teams, Emmaus overcame all other opponents to capture third place in the Lehigh Valley League. Outstanding grapplers for the season were Junior Ernie MacIlwraith, who was undefeated during regular season competition, Seniors Charles Thomas and Albert Killo, who both qualified for District Eleven competition and Senior Steve Huddleston, who went on to the Regional Tournament.

Thom Saeger discusses batting procedure with John Rogers, Richard Yeakel, Dennis Groller, and Dennis Snyder.

BASEBALL AND SOFTBALL TEAMS

The baseball team, coached by Bruce Polster and William Imschweiler, held high hopes for a league championship. With eleven letter winners returning, the season started strongly. Emmaus defeated all opponents with the exception of Whitehall and Northampton. Intent to stop Whitehall's thirty-three game winning streak, Emmaus applied the pressure to Whitehall's Dave Schneck by scoring early in the first inning. Tony Puzauskas pitched a shut-out, leaving Emmaus to win 4-0. In order to be a contender for the championship, Emmaus would have to defeat Northampton. Emmaus failed to beat this well disciplined team, and failed to reach the ultimate goal.

END SUCCESSFUL SEASONS

Miss Armitage pinned her hopes for a successful season upon the experience of six returning letter winners and the competent pitching of Junior Colleen Kells. It was soon evident that the new members of the team also had much potential. Daily after school the girls practiced under the capable leadership of the team's co-captains, JoAnn Oleksa and Debbie Schmoyer. Long hours and the running of extra laps for errors apparently proved worthwhile, because the team chalked up a season without defeat.

TRACK TEAM WINS LEHIGH VALLEY CROWN AND LEAGUE MEET

As a climax to a fine season, the track team captured the Lehigh Valley crown and won an overall team victory at the Lehigh Valley League Meet. The triple tandum of Makem, Kells, and Reed consistantly placed first, second, and third in the 100-yard dash. Kells and Makem, as a result of their efforts, will compete in the District Eleven Championships. Mr. Johns ended his final season as track coach with an outstanding 7-year record.

WELL-COACHED TENNIS TEAM POSTS BEST SEASON EVER

Junior Bert Harries, with an individual record of seven wins and three losses, led the Emmaus tennis team to the best season in school history. Al Neff, Laird Okie, and Steve Senderowitz placed consistently in the singles and doubles. The tennis team, coached by William Scheckler, became internationalized with the inclusion of Herofumi Makino, Japanese foreign exchange student, who added flair to the team.

COACH SMITH RECORDS 100TH GOLF WIN IN TEN SEASONS

With last year's eight wins and no-loss record under their belts, the Golf Team had visions of repeating the feat. After this season's record of thirteen wins and no losses, Coach Smith's overall record was boosted to 100 wins, 3 losses, and 2 ties over a period of ten years. Such is the reward of many hours of arduous practice on the Hornet's home course, Brookside Country Club. The Hornets began their 1967 season by defeating Whitehall and holding the Zephyrs to only ½ point. The team was paced by Steve Demchyk and Larry Gracely. Steve also won the right to compete in the State Golf Tournament.

KNOWLEDGE, LEARNING, UNDERSTANDING,—THROUGH ATHLETICS

During halftime Colleen Kells momentarily turns from cheerleading to watch the Wilson Boro Band perform for the spectators.

In an effort to promote school spirit, the Pep club honored players and coaches in an Athletic Showcase display.

Richard Bogart, Dennis Scholl, and George Vargo hold down their victim as Donald Amig is about to do him in with a sixteen-pound shot. Trackmen give way to levity to relieve the tension of practice in preparation for the League meet.

COACHES UNSELFISHLY OFFERED THEIR TIME AND EXPERIENCE

It is the hope of educators to provide knowledge, learning, and understanding through academic achievement and scholastic motivation. This motivation has been an important part of athletics in Emmaus High School. The coaches offered their time, experience, and understanding to the athletes whom they trained. The philosophy of the school proposes that a healthy body will harbor an efficient mind; therefore, it is this outlook which insures personal understanding for the student athlete of Emmaus High School.

A precariously balanced Emmaus cheerleader decorates the gym prior to a pregame pep rally.

Senior Greg Brown holds down an opponent as he blocks a shot. Though courtmen Steve Demchyk and John Kovish wait impatiently for the rebound, Palmerton raced to an easy victory against the Hornets.

THANKS

is the result of many hours of work
by many people.
The members of the staff wish to thank the faculty and administration of EHS,
all the students,
Hess's photography department, and especially our adviser, Mrs. Jean H. Bieber.

CLOSING

1967 will be remembered

in many ways—

winning a football game,

a trip to New York,

a surprise test.

It was a year filled with treasured memories and emotions,

a year that meant farewell to the class of '67.
